Roosevelt Warns Railroads And Labor Get Together

DECLARES HE WILL ACT AS ALTERNATIVE

President in Letter Says He Will Protect Public If It Is Necessary

INCREASE DEMANDED

Labor Counters Plan Proposed by Railroads in Asking Huge Pay Boost

WASHINGTON, March 20.—(UP)—President Roosevelt today warned railroad managements and labor that unless they reach speedy agreement in their wage controversy, it may be necessary for him to act to protect the public interest.

Mr. Roosevelt's position was set forth in letters to W. F. Thieff, chairman of the conference committee of managers, and A. F. Whitney, chairman of the railway labor executive committee.

Railroad labor has rejected the president's proposal for temporary continuance of the present 10 per cent wage cut. The railroads had agreed to this plan and withdrawn their plan for a further cut.

But labor today countered with a demand for a 20 per cent increase and shortly thereafter the president dispatched the letters.

The president expressed regret to learn that no progress toward an agreement had been made at the conference and expressed the fear that the good of the country was being overlooked. He also warned that in stepping into the picture he might have to appoint a commission to examine thoroughly into the labor controversy.

"In response to my communication of February 14, 1934, in that communication I expressed the hope that the railroads and their employees may be able to agree upon an extension of the present agreement for at least six months," the president's letter.

Text of Letter

"I have been advised of what has transpired at the conference between the conference committee of managers, representing the railroads and the Railway Labor Executives association, representing the employees, which have been held in response to my communication of February 14, 1934. In that communication I expressed the hope that the railroads and their employees may be able to agree upon an extension of the present agreement for at least six months," the president's letter.

HOUSE GAG RULES ARE DECLARED OFF

WASHINGTON, March 20.—(UP)—The belligerent mood of the house when gag rules are mentioned, brought a tentative decision from the leadership today to let the administration's important reciprocal tariff bill be debated about on the floor without restrictions.

Chairman Robert L. Doughton, N. C., of the ways and means committee said it was planned to permit 22 hours of general debate on the measure, which will probably be called up Thursday. Under Doughton's plan there will be no attempt to prevent amendments.

The majority committee report defended the constitutionality of the bill, and asserted that the provisions giving the president power to lower or raise by 50 per cent tariff rates in the interest of reciprocal trade agreements were vitally necessary to economic recovery.

ABYSSINIA TO REFUSE INSULT ENTRY TO PORT

Former Utilities Magnate Seeks Place of Refuge From Extradition

ADDIS ABABA, Abyssinia, March 20.—(UP)—One of Samuel Insull's hopes as a place of refuge seemed illusory today when local authorities told the United Press he had not obtained a passport visa and would be refused one if he asked for it.

It was said Insull would not be permitted to enter the country without a visa and that it had been decided not to give him one because of the legal complications involved.

The American legation had said previously that if Insull arrived here he could be arrested and sued in the consular court as an American citizen. It was admitted that the question of actual extradition to the United States might prove a difficult one.

ATHENS, March 20.—(UP)—Samuel Insull continued his Mediterranean cruise in unpleasant weather today, while he sought a place of refuge in a world that denied many of its ports to him.

There was no specific word of him. Private advices were that the ship had been forced to take shelter among the Aegean islands because of rough seas and so was delayed.

Reports that the Malotis, freight steamer which Insull chartered to make his escape from American extradition efforts, had sent wireless SOS calls were denied emphatically by the ministry of marine.

PORT SAID, Egypt, March 20.—(UP)—Egyptian authorities watched the Mediterranean closely today to prevent a secret landing by Samuel Insull at an Egyptian port.

There was no word as to the policy of the United States in event Insull seeks to pass through the Suez canal.

LARGE NAVY BILL BEFORE CONGRESS

WASHINGTON, March 20.—(UP)—The Vinson-Trammell bill providing for building the American navy up to treaty strength was ready today for final approval by congress.

House and senate conferees agreed on an acceptable form of the measure last night. The bill provides for construction of 102 ships at a cost of $400,000,000 to $900,000,000 and 1,154 airplanes at a cost of $96,000,000.

The compromise form provides for 10 per cent of the specified airplanes be constructed in government plants if the president finds this feasible. A maximum profit of 10 per cent is set for bidders on the new ships and aircraft.

Both houses are expected to approve the measure before the week is out.

FOUR DAY MARRIAGE CEREMONY STARTED

HUE, Indo China, March 20.—(UP)—The four-day marriage ceremony of Emperor Bao Dai and Marie Hua Hao, his commoner wife, was begun today at the old imperial palace in accordance with ancient Chinese custom. The populace throughout the country celebrated.

The 21-year-old ruler and his pretty 18-year-old bride, both French educated and completely westernized, defied tradition to marry, as Bao Dai should have taken a wife of his own rank.

But they had to follow the ancient ritual which court experts had been working out for weeks, and the ceremony began today at the groom's residence before a specially built altar.

Big Dirigible Leaves On Journey North

SUNNYVALE, Calif., March 20.—(UP)—The navy dirigible Macon swung away from her mast at 10:07 A. M. (PST) today and headed over the Pacific ocean. Five planes attached to the craft were to engage in gunnery practice at sea.

When the Macon left Sunnyvale all details of her present flight had not been worked out. If weather conditions permit, officers said, the dirigible will head north along the coastline toward Portland. If inclement weather developed, the Macon was to return to Sunnyvale late today or tomorrow morning.

TWO OF BYRD'S FLIERS FORCED DOWN IN SNOW

High Winds and Bitter Cold Weather Prevent Attempts at Rescue

BULLETIN

LITTLE AMERICA, Antarctica, March 20.—(Via MacKay Radio)—(UP)—Pilot William C. Bowlin and Wireless Operator Clay Bailey, marooned on barrier ice when they had to make a forced landing in their plane in a fog, were found safe today by Admiral Richard E. Byrd in a flight from his Antarctic base.

NEW YORK, March 20.—(UP)—High winds and bitter cold delayed search for two members of Rear Admiral Richard E. Byrd's expedition stranded on the bleak antarctic ice pack when their airplane made a forced landing, according to latest advices today from Little America.

The missing men were William C. Bowlin, pilot, and Clay Bailey, radio operator.

Despite the severe weather, Admiral Byrd professed little concern. He believed that they would be rescued within a month and pointed out that they had food supplies and equipment to last at least that long.

"We shall start looking for them as soon as the weather gives us a chance," Byrd said in a message sent here by MacKay radio.

"When the plane left Little America, it carried full emergency equipment including a tent, cooking stove, sleeping bags and 30 days ration per man. Both men were equipped amply with fur clothing, so I have no reason for concern."

It was believed that Bowlin and Bailey came down on a high barrier near a crevasse. The last communication from the plane was Sunday night when they reported that they had been forced down and had buried the ship in the snow to protect it from gales. The radio message from the fliers said that they could not give their exact location.

RELEASE 6 MILLION TO IMPERIAL CANAL

WASHINGTON, March 20.—(UP)—Commissioner of Reclamation Elwood Mead announced today that the comptroller general had released to his division $6,000,000 appropriated for the all-American canal in the Imperial valley of California.

The reclamation division now plans to advertise soon for bids on the project.

Work on the canal has been delayed because the treasury had not transferred needed money to the reclamation bureau for its distribution.

It was understood that bids would be reopened at the Denver office of the reclamation division and that contracts would be awarded at Yuma, Ariz.

OIL DRILLING IN SANTA ANA IS PROPOSED

L. A. Operators Ask Council Permit to Drill East of Santa Ana River

Drilling for oil in Santa Ana may be a reality in the near future, following disclosures at the city council meeting last night that Los Angeles operators have secured options on nearly 400 acres of land east of the Santa Ana river between First and Fairview streets.

A. J. Terrill, president of the Anglo-California Trading Corporation, Ltd., appeared before the council and made application to lease a seven-acre tract of city property near First and Sullivan streets. He said that this block was virtually in the center of the proposed oil drilling tract and he wanted to have it under his control before oil operations began.

There is now a city ordinance prohibiting the drilling of oil in the city limits which was passed in 1923, but the council indicated that this could be repealed for the time being and the district in question rezoned to permit drilling. A similar procedure was followed several years ago when agitation was started to drill for oil near Fairhaven and Santa Clara avenues in the northeast section of the city.

Mayor Paul Wittmer appointed a special committee of Councilmen A. F. LeGaye, A. C. Hasenjaeger and William Penn to investigate the proposition and report back next Monday. Terrill is asking to lease the land on a royalty basis and the city would receive financial returns if oil was found.

The 400 acres described by Terrill is largely ranch land and there are few houses on it, Terrill said. Part of the property is within the city limits and part in the county.

CONVICTS PREPARED TO GAMBLE ON LIFE

CANON CITY, Colo., March 20.—(UP)—More than 800 convicts, prisoners in the Colorado state penitentiary here, today expressed eagerness to gamble their lives and health against freedom, and offered themselves as laboratory subjects for tests of a newly developed tuberculosis prevention serum.

Only 12 convicts will be chosen for the tests, and those will be granted clemency by Gov. Edwin C. Johnson. The other 790 odd prisoners who offered themselves to science are doomed to disappointment.

Dr. H. J. Corper, head of the research department of the National Jewish hospital, where the serum was developed after 15 years research, was scheduled to confer with Governor Johnson late today on details of the tests.

QUEEN MOTHER OF HOLLAND IS DEAD

THE HAGUE, Holland, March 20.—(UP)—Queen Mother Emma, mother of Queen Wilhelmina and widow of King William III, died at 7:45 a. m. today of bronchitis. She was 75.

The queen mother's death was calm, as had been the last years of her life. She married King William as his second wife in 1879, when he was 52 years old, and bore him a daughter, who is the present queen. King William died in 1890, when Wilhelmina was 10, Emma, as mother of a child queen, bore much responsibility until Wilhelmina came of legal age at 18.

Roosevelt Improved

WASHINGTON, March 20.—(UP)—The condition of John Roosevelt, youngest son of the president and Mrs. Roosevelt, was reported as "satisfactory" today at the naval hospital. He underwent an operation for appendicitis yesterday. In a bulletin issued by the hospital it was said his temperature was normal and that he was making rapid progress.

EDWARD DOHENY IS SUED FOR MILLIONS

LOS ANGELES, March 20.—(UP)—Recovery of $9,285,561 from Edward L. Doheny, multimillionaire oil magnate, was demanded today by the federal government in a suit attacking as fraudulent three petroleum leases in the Kettleman Hills fields of Kern county, Cal.

Reversing the oil scandals of the Harding administration, the suit cited a recent ruling of the United States supreme court, holding the leases were obtained by Doheny's Pan-American Oil company through collusion with former Secretary of Interior Albert B. Fall.

Damages of $9,277,566 were assessed against Doheny and his associates some months ago in a similar suit instituted by W. C. McKellar, receiver for the Richfield Oil company and Pan-American, which had been acquired by Richfield. Judgment later was reduced to $5,100,000 by compromise, but the payment was blocked when Doheny filed an amended demurrer.

Admissions Lead Today To Arrests

Wife, Former Vassar Graduate Also Hired to Get Military Secrets

PARIS, March 20.—(UP)—Robert G. Switz, young New Yorker, was revealed by his own confession today as the Paris chief of an international spy gang which they said operated on behalf of Soviet Russia and Germany to learn the military secrets of France, Great Britain and the United States.

With Switz is held his wife, the former Marjorie Tilley, Vassar girl. After a merciless cross-examination lasting far into the night, Switz made admissions which led to five more arrests, in addition to the some 20 already made.

American and British secret agents were said to have cooperated in uncovering the ring.

The youthful Switz succeeded to leadership of the conspiracy a year ago, police said, after the original chiefs had been nearly trapped and fled from France. His confession disclosed that he met agents of the international spy syndicate in the United States, where he and his wife were hired for the comparatively minor fee of $200 a month and were sent to France.

There Switz directed activities, received documents and paid agents furnished by the paymaster of the organization, Benjamin Bercovits, a Roumanian.

Police still sought the secret model of an automatic rifle stolen last year from Chateaufort, which Ingrid, Switz's wife, was said to have been hired to deliver to a Finnish spy group, insisted she saw at the home of Lydia Stahl, arrested last December with the Switzes. She is a Russian who had been in the United States.

DOUBTS STORIES OF BULLET PROOF APES

WASHINGTON, March 20.—(UP)—The Smithsonian Institution said today that it didn't want to cast any aspersions on the Rev. Harold Young, but that it would like to see one of the bullet-proof monsters he claims infest Yunnan Jungle in China.

Rev. Young reported in Los Angeles that he personally had encountered with gigantic, silver-haired ape-like creatures, which looted graveyards and laugh at bullets.

Smithsonian scientists said that the Rev. Young must have encountered some apes, which are tough but which aren't bullet proof. If the Rev. Young goes back to China, however, and captures one of the monsters, the museum will be glad to examine it and tell him exactly what it is.

WOMAN FLIER IS WITNESS IN MAIL HEARINGS

WASHINGTON, March 20.—(UP)—Amelia Earhart Putnam, first woman to fly the Atlantic alone, appeared today at a committee hearing to "kill aviation with strict regulations before it has a chance to grow."

Mrs. Putnam, fifth in a list of famous fliers who have testified on a proposed bill to return airmail contracts to commercial operators, asked the postoffice committee to "consider plans for the future."

"Aviation is a very young industry," she said, smiling. "Any bill you have in mind should be very simple. I think it is urgent, however, to do something for aviation immediately."

Wearing a brown tweed sports suit and brown hat, Mrs. Putnam arrived early and waited about 10 minutes for Chairman Kenneth D. McKellar and other committee members. She gave her name to a stenographer, and said she was vice-president of the National Airways.

"I think the bill should entail competitive bidding, at least at the beginning," she said.

"In my mind that is necessary so that something can be started with equitable distribution."

She suggested modification of a clause in the bill prohibiting airplane operating companies from entering into combinations with manufacturing companies.

Mrs. Putnam turned to a section requiring operating companies to give the postoffice department an "adequate bond" guaranteeing performance of duty.

"I think you must define an 'adequate bond,'" she said. "An operator who operates 1000 miles a day without mail certainly should be able to do it with mail. Perhaps the operation alone can take care of the bond."

She urged the committee to hear all persons interested in actual operations before concluding hearings, adding:

"I don't know that trans-Atlantic fliers are especially qualified to tell you about technical phases of the bill."

"I am deeply interested in the future of aviation," she concluded. "I'd like to see it have every chance to grow and develop. I'd like to see a bill roll through quickly."

"I agree with you," said McKellar, thanking her for her brief appearance.

MANUFACTURERS MEET IN NEW YORK BUT NO OFFER OF COMPROMISE IS MADE

President Roosevelt Understood To Be Prepared To Intervene Unless Agreement Is Reached Soon

CHALLENGE ISSUED BY LABOR

BULLETIN

DETROIT, March 20.—(UP)—President Roosevelt today intervened in the threatened strike of 100,000 automobile workers, and asked labor leaders to withhold action until there could be a conference in Washington "to reconcile the existing differences."

DETROIT, March 20.—(UP)—The automobile strike called by the American Federation of Labor will start at 9 a. m. tomorrow in the Hudson plant at Detroit, unless the National Administration of Manufacturers make acceptable offers by tonight, it was announced at Federation office today.

The Hudson plant, employing nearly 14,000 workers, is the focal point of the Federation's efforts. From that plant, the strike is expected to spread immediately, under Federation direction, into Flint, Lansing and Pontiac.

"We have the support of 9000 workers in the Hudson plant," William Collins, Michigan organizer of the federation, told the United Press.

Union officials from five plants where strikes have been voted were scheduled to meet late today in Pontiac to act on an offer from Washington or from New York, where directors of the National Automobile Chamber of Commerce are conferring today on the federation's demands for higher wages, shorter hours and greater freedom in organization.

"If no offers are made, we will strike," Collins declared.

Plants immediately affected by the strike order are the Fisher Body plants of Flint, Pontiac and Lansing, the Buick plant in Flint and the Hudson plant in Detroit. The Hudson, Buick and Flint Fisher plants employ about 30,000 men.

Although not all the men in these plants have enrolled under federation banners, Collins was hopeful that entire working forces would support the walkout. Other plants are expected to join in the movement immediately, either under sponsorship of the federation or other union, organizations such as the Mechanics Educational society with a membership of about 15,000.

President Roosevelt, alarmed at the increasing threat of a disastrous strike, was understood to be ready to intervene if necessary. General Hugh S. Johnson, NRA administrator, was in New York where he had an airplane ready to carry to Detroit any compromise agreed to by the code authority of the automobile industry in secret session there.

In Detroit, the great plants were running at full capacity turning out as many cars as possible before tomorrow when, if the A. F. of L. ultimatum is carried out, workers will lay down their tools and walk out.

The hope for compromise went glimmering in the face of a new set of compliments exchanged between the National Automobile Chamber of Commerce and William Green, president of the federation.

The chamber, through a full page advertisement appearing in morning newspapers in key cities through the United States addressed to "employees of the automobile industry," charged the federation was attempting to force workers to join its unions and said that the point at issue was whether the

L. A. MILLINERY WORKERS OUT BENCHES TODAY

Two Thousand Strike During Height of Pre-Easter Business Rush

LOS ANGELES, March 20.—(UP)—Marked by nearly a dozen clashes, 2,000 millinery workers struck today at the height of the Pre-Easter business rush.

The workers demanded recognition of the Millinery Workers International Union, a 25 per cent pay increase and abolition of the "blacklist." Arbitration of the difficulties was to be sought at a meeting today between union leaders, employers and Campbell MacCulloch, secretary of the regional labor board.

A half dozen police radio cars were stationed in the wholesale millinery district along South Broadway while patrolmen sought to break up large groups of demonstrators who sought to prevent non-strikers from entering the plants.

There was no violence. Strikers contented themselves with blocking the entrance to the factories of Golden Brothers, Ambassador Hat company, the La Zar Millinery company and other large establishments, and with elbowing the non-strikers off the sidewalks.

Representatives of the 70 manufacturing units in the Los Angeles area voted overwhelmingly for the strike at a mass meeting last night.

NEW AIRMAIL BILL GIVEN COMMITTEE

WASHINGTON, March 20.—(UP)—A new airmail bill which would place the service on the same basis as railway mail was before the senate postoffice committee today with informal sentiment indicating it probably would be approved.

An informal United Press poll of committee members showed 11 of 19 ready to support the new measure presented by Sen. Joseph C. O'Mahoney, D., Wyo., rather than the controversial Black-McKellar bill.

The measure would end all subsidies and empower the interstate commerce commission to fix fair and reasonable rates.

RAILROADS AND LABOR WARNED GET TOGETHER

pressing also my conviction that such an extension would be of advantage to those directly concerned, and also to the country."

"It is a profound disappointment to learn that no progress toward an agreement has been made at the conference. I fear that slight is being lost of the most important factor of all, the good of the country. If no agreement is reached, and in default of arbitration, it may be necessary for me, with due regard to the protection of the general public interest, to appoint a commission to examine thoroughly into the labor controversy, covering all classes of railroad employment, in order that the country may be advised of the merits. For the reasons stated in my communication of Feb. 14, I believe that conditions are not yet ripe for a wise settlement of these issues, and that the active prosecution of the controversy at the present time would have a most disturbing and unfortunate influence, nor would such a postponement be in general unfair to the employees."

"Since I addressed my previous communication to you, however, the fact has been developed that some of the railroad employees are now receiving compensation for their work at rates which are below minimums which have been established in the NRA codes, if not actually below a subsistence basis. This does not apply to any very large fraction of the employees, but nevertheless such a situation does exist. To the extent that it exists, it should be corrected, and in this expression of opinion I feel confident that the railroads and the holders of their securities will concur. I am informed that the Federal Coordinator of Transportation now has in his possession the detailed facts in regard to this matter. It should be adjusted in connection with any postponement of the major wage issue."

"I shall be glad to extend to you the services of the Federal Coordinator of Transportation to help in composing your present differences, if that be desired. For the good of the country I strongly urge that further efforts be made to reach an agreement."

EARLY BRUSH FIRE IS UNDER CONTROL

REDDING, Cal., March 20.—(UP)

—The largest early brush and timber fire recorded in the northern section of California was brought under control today when it encountered the snow line of the higher elevations.

The blaze, believed to have been started by miners while burning brush around their cabin, swept over 500 acres in Trinity county. Seventy-five men worked along Coffee creek to prevent its spreading in that direction, and a day's fight conquered the fire.

GOLD BOOM IN ORANGE COUNTY IS PREDICTED

Presaging what may be a gold boom for Orange county, L. C. Douglas late yesterday filed 104 mining claims in Holy Jim canyon for recording with the county recorder. The claims filed comprise 2880 acres of land in the canyon that is public domain.

Old timers in the county today were interested in the filing and firm in their belief that the action presaged a gold mine boom and pointed to the fact that the public domain in which the claims are located are not far from the gold mine at the forks of Holy Jim and Trabuco canyons owned by Jacob Yeager of Fullerton. The Yeager mine has not been operated for more than 30 years they say but Yeager has kept up the assessment work. Approximately three miles below the Yeager mine there is a tin producer.

Douglas could not be located in Orange county today and so far as county residents who are interested in mining could ascertain, is not known in this area.

AUTO WORKERS GO ON STRIKE ON WEDNESDAY

Industry was to be run by the federation.

Green challenged the chamber to agree to an employees' election under NRA supervision on the method of collective bargaining they wished. He pledged the federation to abide by the results. He charged workers were coerced by the companies into joining company unions and accused the chamber of confusing the issue.

The federation demands reinstatement of workers discharged for unionization activities and a poll of all automobile workers to determine the means whereby they wish to exercise collective bargaining guaranteed in the national recovery act. The manufacturers have declined to agree to any of these measures and have refused to deal with the federation in any way.

The great names of the industry—Walter Chrysler, Alfred Sloan Jr., and Alvan MacAuley—were among the New York conferees who considered the problem all day yesterday. They announced "progress" had been made, and reconvened for another secret session today.

The conferees considered a compromise proposal submitted by General Johnson which was understood to call for employees' elections in all plants to determine whether A. F. of L. or company unions were desired.

REP. BLANTON RAPS LABOR FEDERATION

WASHINGTON, March 20.—(UP)—The American Federation of Labor by its intense unionization efforts is obstructing the recovery program, Rep. Thomas L. Blanton, D. Tex., charged in the house today.

Blanton charged that the labor organization was "selfish" in attempting to force workers to join its ranks.

"In this day of stress and trouble there is one selfish organization which is attempting to stir up trouble against the president's program," Blanton said. "I refer to the American Federation of Labor."

WILL ROGERS says:

HOLLYWOOD, March 20. (To the Editor of The Register.) Talk about Russia with her five-year plan. Mussolini just saw their five and raised 'em fifty-five. Italy is now out with a sixty-year plan. Smart guy that Mussolini, he laid out a plan where, if it proved at the end that it wouldn't work, they couldn't find him. Quite a few things even we could do with a sixty-year plan. Everybody could get their code signed up. Louisiana could catch up with Huey Long. Get the air mail straightened out, get the bonus settled. Vote on remonetizing silver, and send a delegation to the disarmament conference.

Yours,
WILL ROGERS.

YOU ARE CORDIALLY INVITED—NO CHARGE

JUDGE HOLDS PROPERTY FOR STREET ONLY

In a decision handed down by Superior Judge H. G. Ames, drilling for oil on a 30-foot strip of land which is part of the Coast Highway adjacent to the bluff wells of the Standard Oil company in Huntington Beach, is prohibited.

The decision was based on the statement that in 1916 the city of Huntington Beach dedicated the land as a public highway and that through usage as a highway for 18 years and because of the dedication, the property can be used for no other purpose. City Attorney Ray Overacker indicated that an appeal from the decision may be taken.

The decision was in connection with a suit filed more than a year ago by A. D. Marshall of Huntington Beach who sought an injunction preventing the city of Huntington Beach and the Carr Oil company from drilling for oil on the strip of land. The action named as defendants, in addition to the city and the Carr Oil company, the Standard Oil company, Pacific Electric Land company and the Pacific Electric Railway company.

Later the Standard Oil company filed a cross complaint which was answered by the city. The Standard Oil later moved for judgment on the facts and the decision handed down Saturday followed hearing of the action last August. The original action was filed by Marshall after the city and the Carr Oil company had entered a lease agreement for drilling on this location. The property involved was deeded to the city of Huntington Beach by the Huntington Beach company in 1916 with the proviso that it be used for a public street. The strip extends from Twenty-third street to Forty-fifth street.

MAN ARRESTED ON CHARGE BY GIRL

Glenn F. Simmons, 26, 1011 South Bristol street, was booked at the county jail at midnight on a statutory offense after being charged by a 15-year-old Santa Ana girl with using a pistol to make her submit to his demands last night.

Police were notified about 9 o'clock to search for Simmons and he was finally located by Officers Joe Murillo and A. L. Steward at his home. The girl said that Simmons said he wanted her to spend the evening with his children while he was fixing a pump but while driving her to his home, stopped near the Santa Ana river and assaulted her. She said she succeeded once in grabbing the revolver but he twisted her arm and took it away from her. She said he threatened to kill her if she told police.

The girl was taken to the Orange County hospital by Captain Jess Buckles and Officer Harry Prichard, for an examination. Simmons was booked by Buckles and Prichard.

Local Briefs

A mass meeting called to give the public information regarding a movement for an initiative measure which would place in effect in California practically all of the phases of Technocracy, will be held at 7:30 o'clock tonight in the Willard school building under the auspices of the Santa Ana Forum.

The Swiss Echo Yodelers, famous entertainers from Switzerland, and said to be the only four-part yodelers in the United States, will present an entertainment program under the auspices of the Modern Woodmen of America, Santa Ana camp, in the M. W. A. hall tonight.

Turkeys, Chickens Taken By Thieves

Thieves who refused to be fooled by a locked and bolted chicken house, stole 22 hens valued at $30 from the ranch of Ben Clays on Euclid avenue north of Garden Grove last night.

Deputy Sheriff Sam Snodgrass and Walter Dungan of the farm theft detail learned that the thieves crawled through a small window in the chicken coop and stole eight turkeys and 11 chickens. Tracks were found leading from the yard.

FIVE BOOKED ON DRUNK CHARGES: 2 FOR DRIVING

Five persons were booked at the county jail yesterday on liquor violations, including one for drunk driving and one for reckless driving while intoxicated.

Joseph Chambers, 43, Los Angeles, used poor judgment when he visited the jail yesterday to visit with his brother, Lynn Chambers, 37, held for drunken driving after a wreck south of Anaheim Saturday night. Joseph was originally arrested for drunkenness but was released on bond. When Lynn was arraigned yesterday before Judge Charles Kuechel of Anaheim, he denied being the driver of the car and accused his brother. When the brother came to the jail, he denied the charge also but California Highway Patrolman Joe Clover changed the charge to drunken driving.

Both men were scheduled to have their preliminary hearings in Anaheim on March 27 at 2 p. m., and are being held under $500 bail. In the meantime, they have been placed in the same cell to give them an opportunity to determine which was driving at the time of the accident. A peculiar feature of the wreck is that the other car was driven by Stanley Chambers of Los Angeles, no relation to the brothers in jail.

Alfred H. Heyling, 37, Corona, was booked for reckless driving and intoxication at 7:15 o'clock last night by Constable George Bartley of Orange. He was pronounced intoxicated by a physician, had bail fixed at $100 and will have his hearing on March 21 at 10 a. m. before Judge A. W. Swayze.

A. Ventura, 42, Garden Grove, was booked at the jail for drunkenness by Deputy Sheriffs Ives Brown and Walter Dungan of the farm theft detail at 1:45 a. m. today after they arrested him at Seventeenth and King street while flagging traffic.

Mrs. G. A. Dixon, 822 West Sixth street, was booked at the jail for drunkenness after being arrested on East Fourth street near the Pacific Electric station by Officers F. L. Grouard and William Heard.

Santos Barragan, 27, Delhi, was arrested for intoxication at 4:25 a. m. today on the 1900 block on West Second street and booked at the jail by Officers Heard and Grouard.

PLAYGROUNDS PROGRAM WILL BE DISCUSSED ON THURSDAY

Plans for launching a playground program for the county under the revised CWA program will be discussed at a luncheon meeting to be held tomorrow noon at the Green Cat cafe in this city, according to County Welfare Director B. V. Curry. He has invited approximately 50 persons interested in playgrounds to attend the luncheon, representing the various communities in the county.

Curry said this morning that the meeting is called for the purpose of discussing the proposal with George W. Braden, western representative of the National Recreational association. Braden, he said, is to be here at the request of R. C. Branion, California administrator of state relief.

When plans for the reorganization of CWA programs in Orange county was first discussed a program of playground construction and another of playground supervision for submission was suggested to federal authorities.

Under this program the project would be set up in two units. One project would provide for the construction and equipping of playgrounds in various portions of the county on property owned by either the county, municipalities or school districts. The second project would provide adequate supervisors for the playgrounds. A survey of possible sites is already under way by Curry who also is director for the Orange County Federal Emergency Relief Administration.

SEEK FORMATION OF SANITARY DISTRICT

Petition for formation of the Midway City Sanitary district filed with the board of supervisors this morning was referred to County Assessor James J. Sleeper for checking of the 35 freeholders who signed the petition. Hearing date on the petition will be set at a later date following a report from Assessor Sleeper.

Mrs. Florence Ziegler of Westminster was appointed acting superintendent of the Orange County Water Works No. 5 taking the place made vacant by the death of her husband, Mrs. Ziegler will serve until such time as a permanent appointment is made.

PAINTERS' CODE IS EFFECTIVE

A code of fair competition affecting painters, paper hangers and decorators in Orange county, has been approved by President Roosevelt and will be effective Thursday, it was announced today by Frederick W. Sanford, secretary-manager of the Orange County Builders Exchange.

The code defines who is affected, exemptions, methods of payment, divisional code authority and fair trade practice regulations. The code is chapter three of the general provisions for the construction industry which went into effect on March 2. A copy of the complete code is on file at the Builders Exchange headquarters in the Builders Exchange building on Main street.

At the same time Sanford announced that Orange county painters and decorators plan to attend an educational meeting to be held Thursday night at 7:30 o'clock at the Central Junior high school, 461 North Hill street, Los Angeles, when the code will be discussed.

The meeting was called by the Painting and Decorating Contractors' association of Los Angeles at the request of the national code authority.

CRIME SUBJECT OF DISCUSSION AT LIONS MEET

Methods service club members can use in combatting crime were discussed at a meeting of the Orange County Lions council last night in the Green Cat cafe.

The discussion was led by Gordon X. Richmond, Orange attorney. Factors involved in spreading the recent crime wave discussed at the session included the effect on youth of "yellow" journalism and magazines and in moving pictures which make heroes of gangsters, the economic situation and the depression.

It was brought out at the meeting that most of the crime in the nation is committed by youths, the average age being 23 years, while the majority of these are 19 years old, and the second largest group 18 years of age.

Boy Scout organizations and other social welfare organizations, including all wholesome boy movements are essential in the life of a boy to prevent him from becoming a criminal, it was stated.

Doctor Sued For $50,990 By Patient

Damages amounting to $50,990 are sought in a malpractice suit filed in superior court today naming Dr. L. F. Whittaker, Huntington Beach physician, as defendant. The action was filed by Ted Thompson, 15, through his guardian ad litem Mrs. Rachel Barlett, his mother, who also joined in the action as a plaintiff.

The suit asks $25,000 damages for the boy and his mother in asking for an additional $25,000 actual and $990 special damages from the physician alleging that he was negligent in diagnosing and treating injuries to the boy's leg.

According to the complaint the Thompson boy was injured March 20, 1933 when his left foot and ankle struck a water hydrant, fracturing both bones of the left leg above the ankle. The suit also alleged that there was a posterior dislocation of the lower fragment of the tibia and foot on the left leg.

The boy was taken to Dr. Whittaker, according to the complaint, who "so negligently diagnosed and treated the injury as to permit the fractured bones to partially knit out of alignment and begin to heal in such a way as to limit the use of the ankle and foot."

The complaint charges that the doctor failed to take an X-ray of the injured member and diagnosed the injury as a sprain.

Flames Destroy Home At El Toro

The home of Hiram Whistler, member of a pioneer family of El Toro, was burned to the ground Sunday, fire starting in the rafters under the roof while the family and a number of guests were at dinner. The furniture of the home, which was located about two blocks southeast of the post office, was saved. The state fire truck was sent from Orange but the flames had gained such headway before its arrival that it was impossible to save the structure.

LEAGUE HEAD MAKES CHARGES ABOUT PRISON

Outlining a movement launched by the state League of Women Voters to obtain action to place women in charge of the Women's prison at Tehachapi because it is alleged to be run extravagantly, the women kept in idleness and that a man is in charge contrary to law, Mrs. Harriet Ellet, president of the state league, spoke at the annual meeting of the Santa Ana league at the home of Mrs. E. C. Wilson, 530 Orange avenue.

She charged that the warden sells meat to a butcher 20 miles away and buys it back again rather than butcher pigs raised at the institution. She claimed that the women are not allowed to make their own bread and can their own vegetables, but that bread is delivered from a distance of 20 miles and vegetables purchased from a distance.

"Further," she said, "the women have nothing at all to do. Not even an educational program is provided and they can only loaf about in tiny enclosed yards with no activity to occupy them. Such a condition as this the women of the state cannot allow to continue."

The establishment of a woman's prison with the object of rehabilitation of the woman criminal, of relief to the taxpayer through making such an institution self-supporting through production of its own food at least, has been the objective of organized clubwomen for 15 years, she said.

A movement now is on foot to obtain a constitutional amendment to take the institution out from under the control of the state board of prison directors, she declared.

Lynna H. Crawford, vice principal of the high school, spoke on three forms of city government at the afternoon session.

MIDGET AUTO RACING AT CITY BOWL OKAYED

Formal approval of midget auto racing in the Santa Ana Municipal Bowl was given by the city council last night with the acceptance of a lease from Charles Swanner, commander of the Santa Ana American Legion post, sponsor of the new sport.

The lease calls for races in the Bowl every Saturday night, with the city receiving 10 per cent of the gross gate receipts. Sharp shovels will be used to remove the top of the turf around the track, which will permit the grass to grow up again whenever the races are discontinued. If no races are held for four consecutive weeks, without justifiable cause, the lease can be terminated by either party, it is provided.

The city will have all concession rights and will also furnish lighting and water for the Bowl. The maintenance of the track will be under the charge of City Engineer J. L. McBride and paid for by the promoters.

Through an arrangement with the association governing midget racing, the best drivers and cars will be brought to Santa Ana every week, Swanner declared. He said that nominal admission prices would be charged and was optimistic over the success of the new venture.

CITY PUBLICITY MAN APPOINTED BY TRUSTEES

Anton Cavalli, secretary-manager of the Santa Ana Merchants' association, was appointed publicity director for the city of Santa Ana by the city council last night, to hold office without pay.

Gene Kahan of the association appeared before the council and said that Cavalli was willing to donate his services to the city in all matters of publicity, advertising and promotional projects. He said that the appointment of a publicity director would take many routine matters from the city council and provide experienced advice at no cost to the city.

One of Cavalli's first tasks will be to consider the placing of a double page advertisement in the special harbor edition of The Register, to be issued in the near future and following further approval of the harbor bonds by federal authorities.

ORDER PLANS FOR WIDENING STREET

Following approval by state heads of the widening of South Main street with funds from the state gasoline tax, City Engineer J. L. McBride was asked by the city council last night to draw up plans for the work.

It is not likely that actual construction will begin for many months but the plan will be completed so that nothing will hinder the work when money is appropriated. The plan is to widen the west side of the highway from Fairview to Delhi road to make an 80 foot paved roadway. The work will cost about $37,000.

ALL-BRAN RELIEVED HIS CONSTIPATION

Delicious Cereal Brought New Health to Mr. Bartholomew

We quote from his voluntary letter: "I had considerable trouble with my stomach. Digestion was out of the question. I got medicine which gave me only temporary relief."

"Then I thought of taking ALL-BRAN. I started eating a cereal dishful two or three times a day."

"It has been over a year now since I ate that first dish of bran, but from that day to this I have had the pleasure of enjoying the proper functioning of the digestive organs."

"Thanks to ALL-BRAN, I still eat it regularly and like it better all the time."—Lester Bartholomew, Cadillac, Mich.

Constipation is usually due to lack of "bulk" to exercise the intestines, and vitamin B to promote elimination. ALL-BRAN supplies both, as well as iron for the blood.

The "bulk" in ALL-BRAN is much like that of leafy vegetables. Certainly this food is more natural than taking harmful patent medicines. Two tablespoonsful daily will usually overcome most types of constipation. With each meal in chronic cases. If not relieved this way, see your doctor.

COUNCIL NOTES

Pedro Gonzalez, 825 Logan street, was granted permission by the city council last night to sell ice cream in a push cart in Delhi.

Gilbert-Weston-Stearns Electric company was granted permission to hang electric signs at 515 South Main street and 111 West Fourth street.

A communication concerning the hiring of workers under the CWA and other federal projects on a basis of need was received by the council last night from Charles Fallert, county manager for the National Reemployment Service.

The Placentia Sanitary board sent formal approval of the proposed construction work on the joint outfall sewer to the city council last night.

H. S. STUDENTS IN SPEAKING TOURNAMENTS

Plans for holding speaking contests in Orange county high schools sponsored by the Toastmaster club, were completed today, it was announced by R. C. Smedley, Santa Ana, founder of the clubs.

Contests in Orange county schools will be held to choose district winners in elimination competition. Winners will compete at a state-wide contest in Los Angeles Elks club on April 21, for the annual Toastmaster trophy cup award.

Representatives from San Diego to Santa Maria will compete in the state contest at Los Angeles. This is the third annual event. More than 500 students have competed in preliminaries.

Locally, Santa Ana Toastmaster club No. 1 is sponsoring the Santa Ana high school while Santa Ana club No. 2 is sponsoring the Orange union high school.

A contest is being staged at the high school this afternoon to determine who will be the representative in the district meet. At 7 o'clock tonight the Orange contest will be held in the school.

The district contest will be held in Santa Ana in James' cafe at a date to be determined later, with participants as the guests of club No. 2, when representatives of the Anaheim high school district, which comprises four schools, will compete with Long Beach, Santa Ana and Orange for determination of district delegate to the Los Angeles meeting April 21.

The purpose of the contests is to promote interest in public speaking among high school students. Student speakers are judged by large numbers of Toastmaster club members. The speakers make five-minute talks and select their own subjects.

CITY COMMENDED FOR WORK ON CURBS

Appreciation for the rounding of curbs in Santa Ana through CWA projects was expressed in a letter to the city council last night from L. W. Hypes, Santa Ana manager of the Coca-Cola Bottling company.

Hypes said that as a manager of a concern using many trucks, he knew the advantage of eliminating sharp corners. He commended City Engineer J. L. McBride for promoting the curb return work and said that it would be a great help to traffic.

McBride said that the curb return project would close this week, following the completion of the remaining corners in the business district. Most of the downtown corners have been replaced with 25-foot radius curbs.

Witmer To Attend Berkeley Parley On Government

When the Western Conference on Government convenes on March 23, 25 and 26 at the University of California at Berkeley, the city council will be represented, it was decided at the meeting last night.

An invitation from the university to have a representative attend the sessions was accepted and provisions will be made for someone to attend. It is expected that Mayor Paul Witmer will be sent north.

The conference combines national conventions of more than 10 governmental associations and will bring internationally known leaders in government to California. All fields of municipal, state and federal governing will be represented.

Employee Of Cafe Asks Police Badge

H. E. Holmes, 902 South Main street, made application to the city council last night as a special police officer to serve without pay in the Hot Brau cafe at Fourth and Rose streets.

Holmes is a former member of the police force and is reported to have been employed at the Hot Brau for some time. On the motion of Councilman E. G. Warner, his application was referred to the chief of police for recommendation.

POLICE, FIRE EMPLOYEES ASK CIVIL SERVICE

Agitation for civil service requirements in the Santa Ana fire and police departments was renewed at the city council meeting yesterday when a delegation of policemen and firemen discussed the proposition with the councilmen.

No definite action was taken, except that City Attorney Clyde Downing was asked to secure a legal opinion from the attorney general on the legality of civil service in fifth class cities. There was some doubt expressed that the city council could delegate its functions of authority to a separate commission, such as the civil service board.

The matter was brought up following a report received here from Prof. Samuel May of the University of California, who was asked to criticize the proposed ordinance. He enclosed considerable data on civil service in other cities but said he did not have sufficient opportunity at this time to make a detailed report on the matter.

GAS TAX AND BOOZE CONTROL LEAGUE TOPICS

Definite action on recommendations for the allocation of the state gas tax and discussion on the stand to be taken by cities on matters of liquor control will be the principal feature of the monthly meeting of the Orange County League of Municipalities Thursday night in the Placentia Table clubhouse.

President A. C. Hasenjaeger of Santa Ana called a meeting of the executive committee last night at the Green Cafe, where details of the program were discussed. Secretary Albert Launer, member of the legislative committee of the California League of Municipalities, will give a report on a recent meeting in Los Angeles of his committee regarding liquor control.

Mayor L. A. Hogue of Brea and City Engineer J. L. McBride of Santa Ana will lead the discussion on the gas tax question and will probably present a resolution directed to the state legislature, gesting action to be taken before the next legislature. The cities are fighting for an increase allocation of funds, instead of the quarter-cent share of the three-cent tax as received now.

C.C. DIRECTORS TO ELECT OFFICERS

Election of officers and installation of five new directors will feature a meeting of the board of directors of the Santa Ana Chamber of Commerce tomorrow morning at 9 o'clock in the chamber offices in the courthouse annex.

Directors who will be installed are Rodney E. Bacon, W. C. Jerome, R. B. Newcom, W. H. Spurgeon and Terry E. Stephenson. Otto Haan, retiring president, will preside.

Final arrangements for the annual chamber of commerce dinner to be held Thursday night in Veterans hall on Birch street which is expected to attract around 400 persons, will be outlined by Secretary George A. Raymer.

Benefit Group To Hold Initiation

A class of 47 charter members of the Orange county council, Security-Benefit association, will be initiated at a public meeting of the new council tomorrow night at 8 o'clock in the Orange American Legion hall, it was announced today.

Installation and initiation work will be done by drill teams from the two Long Beach chapters. Edna Grace Cook, national officer, will be a guest of honor. The meeting was arranged by M. M. Hatcher, of Santa Ana, district manager, and Pearl Allen, of Orange.

A dance open to the public without charge will be staged following the ceremonies.

YOUTHS ARRESTED FOR TOBACCO THEFT

With the arrest yesterday of three youths, thefts of tobacco from locked Pacific Electric cars were solved and most of the loot returned to the railroad company.

Officer J. F. McWilliams, sent to investigate a report from T. W. Boese, 1328 West First street, looked under an orange tree and found a large case of cigarettes which had been stolen from the Pacific Electric yards Sunday night. McWilliams arrested two boys in the orchard and later arrested a third lad when he came to the place where the loot had been hidden.

The youths, aged 14, 14 and 16, were taken to the detention home pending hearings in the juvenile court. Only a few cartons of cigarettes had been taken from the case, which was valued at $53 by the railroad company. The youths admitted breaking into another car on February 25, according to McWilliams, and took a carton of smoking tobacco. They sold a small amount of the tobacco but used the rest, it is believed. Boese said he noticed the box under the tree, half covered with leaves, and called police.

He was also ordered to post a $300 bond to guarantee the monthly payments.

The regular meeting of the Santa Ana lodge will be held tomorrow night.

Aurelia Koch will be the teacher and will conduct the class in English unless members of the class wish otherwise. Nature of the material to be studied will be determined by members of the class.

Former Pugilist Ends Jail Term

"Spike" Kennedy, 35, former sparring partner of Jack Dempsey, was released from the county jail today.

Kennedy, whose real name is Harold Van Wagner, concluded a three months federal sentence for violation of parole on a charge of impersonating a federal officer. He has been a problem in the jail with his persistent efforts to make trouble and bother the other prisoners, according to jailers.

EIGHT APPEAR IN MITCHELL'S COURT

Winifred Pepper paid $6 and Fred E. Melton $5 on speeding charges.

E. F. Zimmerman paid a $6 fine for violation of the city license ordinance.

S. C. Wheeler paid a $1 overtime parking fine.

FILM CELEBRITIES REPORTED IN DUEL

HOLLYWOOD, March 20.—(UP)—A report that two film celebrities fought a duel in a barn "somewhere in Los Angeles" engaged the attention of authorities today.

The duel was said to have been fought as the climax to an argument over the World war.

Only one character was named in the rumor and he denied it flatly. It was Leroy Prinz, dance director. True it was that he exhibited several scratches on his face, arm and chest but whether they were inflicted by a razor, in an automobile crash or by a fall from a rocking chair, Prinz would not say.

"It was all in fun," he said, referring to the lacerations, and he would say nothing more.

PLANS PROBE INTO TUNA IMPORTATIONS

LOS ANGELES, March 20.—(UP)—Japanese tuna importations fell under the direct scrutiny of the United States tariff commission today with the arrival here of Lawrence T. Hopkinson, chief fisheries investigator.

Hopkinson said his investigation would be one of fact-finding which he would incorporate in a report for the commission. He was accompanied here by several aides.

Imports of Japanese tuna have been vigorously assailed by California canners in the past year. Their protest resulted in President Roosevelt placing a 50 per cent increase on the tariff several months ago but their complaints have continued.

The Province of Quebec is larger than Alaska, both in land and water area.

Jaycee Debaters In Action Tonight

Glen Bishop and Walter Kring, Santa Ana Junior college debaters, will uphold the negative side of the question, "Resolved: That the President of the United States Should Have More Power as a Settled Policy," when they meet the Fullerton affirmative team composed of Stanley Christensen and Alex Fadder tonight in Room 11 of the Santa Ana Junior college building.

More than 100 persons attended the last debate, according to John H. McCoy, Don debate coach, and he invites all those interested to attend tonight.

DERDEN HEADS S. A. PYRAMID OF SCIOTS

Announcement of the election of Claud Darden as toparch of Santa Ana Pyramid No. 41, Ancient Egyptian Order of Sciots, was made today following the election at an annual meeting.

Other officers elected and installed were W. F. Currutt, mobib; Charles F. Mitchell, armestis; and Ed. Morse, pastophori. William F. Currutt was appointed a member of the board of control.

Members of the order are planning to attend a district meeting in Long Beach the evening of April 16 when Pharaoh R. H. Hudson will make his official visit to all pyramids in this district. The meeting will be held at the new Masonic temple in Long Beach.

Through local pyramid officers, Pharaoh Hudson made public an edit setting aside the week commencing April 23 as public schools in the state of California.

During the week no meetings, ceremonials, entertainments or functions of any nature will be held under the auspices of any pyramid. He asked that local Sciots cooperate with their Masonic lodges by personal attendance at meetings arranged by committees in charge of the event.

Police News

Peter Parker, 28, charged with counterfeiting and Stockton Darnell, 50, charged with impersonating an officer, were booked at the county jail by federal officers yesterday.

Hazel Dawson, 607 South Main street, reported to police last night that a purse containing $5, drivers license and glasses had been taken from her car while it was parked at the high school.

Three blankets were stolen from the home of N. C. Morrison, 515 West Fifth street, sometime last week, it was reported to police yesterday. It is believed that a door was left unlocked or a pass key used.

YOUTHS LEAVE ORANGE COUNTY CIVILIAN CAMPS

Two of the three Civilian Conservation Corps camps in Orange county lost a total of 93 youths yesterday when they were sent back to their homes, which they will reach about in time for discharge from their initial enrollment. The enrollment period ends on April 1.

Forty-two boys were sent back to their homes in Indiana and Kentucky from Silverado camp near El Toro, according to Lt. R. Oeser, camp commander. This leaves about 190 boys in camp. This camp is operated directly by the government, while the other two camps are under the jurisdiction of state authorities.

San Juan Capistrano Hot Springs camp sent 51 boys back to Indiana where they enlisted in the CCC. Around 160 youths will be left in this camp.

There are about 163 members of Camp Trabuco, most of whom are California boys and few of which are expected to leave the corps when the enrollment period ends, according to Capt. O. R. Emerson, who assumed command of the camp this week. He relieves Capt. E. Pershing who goes back to March Field. All the youths to camp, with few exceptions, are expected to reenlist.

Byron V. Curry, Orange county welfare director, announced that he has applied for an additional quota of 300 for Orange county. He expected to hear from the request in the immediate future.

JURY FINDS O'TERO GUILTY OF BURGLARY

After deliberating less than half an hour yesterday afternoon a jury in department two superior court returned a verdict of guilty against Anthony O'Tero accused of burglary. O'Tero will appear before Superior Judge James L. Allen for pronouncement of judgment Friday morning at 10 o'clock.

O'Tero was found guilty of burglarizing a barbershop on North Main street and taking a set of hair clippers. The clippers, he later pawned to a Fullerton barber and redeemed them after his arrest on the charge, it is reported.

PLACENTIA BOY SCOUT TROOP WINS TROPHY

Placentia Troop 100 today had a "scalp" in the form of first prize won at the annual Orange County Boy Scout Jamboree held in Santa Ana Bowl, hanging in its trophy room after amassing 23 points to win the annual event. Several hundred Boy Scouts vied in the competition. H. E. Douglas is scoutmaster of the winning troop.

With 11 points, Westminster Troop 41 won second place. J. J. Gebauer is scoutmaster of the troop. Third place was taken by Huntington Beach Troop 2 with 10 points, led by Scoutmaster John Engle. Santa Ana Troop 25, led by Les Boyle, took fourth place with 8½ points. Fifth place was captured by Newport Beach Troop 5 with 8 points.

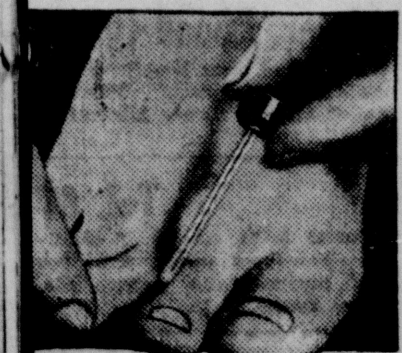

Judges for the event were Jack Preston, William Friend, Mat Walker, Paul Whipp, Bill Brady, Harry Glibbreath, Tom Clemens and Wallace Teed. Alvin Koenig directed the Jamboree, aided by Executive Harrison E. White.

The competitive events on the Jamboree program embraced athletics, skill in Boy Scout activities, outdoor proficiency and knowledge of the fundamentals of Scouting.

The Placentia troop took the greatest number of points even after conceding five points in the first event, the antelope race, to Troop 41 after some mix-up in the staging of the event, which followed the grand parade and opening ceremonies.

The first aid event was won by the Placentia troop, the signaling event by Santa Ana Troop 34, the dressing race by Oceanview Troop 11, the fire by friction event by Huntington Beach Troop 2, the knot tying event by Fullerton Troop 95, the skin the snake event by Fullerton Troop 92, the pyramid building by Placentia Troop 100, the centipede rope race by Newport Beach Troop 5, the string burning contest by Troop 100, and the flapjack flipping contest by Troop 100.

Prizes were awarded at the close of the contests in the form of "scalps" with the place won printed on the leather.

WHAT? NO CHAMPIONS? Bright new faces fill the rambling wooden shack near the baseball diamond at Fort Myers, Fla., where the Athletics are training for the summer baseball wars.

Five years can bring great changes. Five short years ago, about this time of year, that clubhouse resounded with the confident voices of champions. But there are no champions now.

GROVE HAS GONE "Lefty" Grove, the Great Grove, used to strut into that shack, smoking his usual cigar. He was to pitch the Athletics to three pennants. Now he has been sold to rebuild the club's melting bank balance.

George Barnhart, the "Big Moose," who was to give two of the greatest exhibitions of world series pitching under pressure these eyes have ever seen, fished for duty in that crude building.

Al Simmons, who was to become one of the greatest batting heroes of modern times, and whose bat was to drive the homer that broke the Cubs' hearts, five years ago sang under the shower at the old park.

George Ehmske, the surprise pitching hero of the first game of the 1929 world series, there had his aging soupbone rubbed five years ago in the spring, and wondered if the old wind would stand for another summer like the last.

There the irrepressible Jimmy Dykes, who, besides being a great third baseman, passed out his wisecracks for the amusement of the rookies of five short years ago.

SURELY NOT THAT LONG! It hasn't seemed that long since Max Bishop strolled into that clubhouse, relieving perhaps over a Tinseltown in a mere practice game. Nor since Mule Haas, ball hawk of the champions, tugged impatiently at a shoe lace that wouldn't lie just right.

There "Rube" Walberg then fretted impatiently. Shortstop Joe Boley, whose one great stop helped save the 1930 series, had no inkling of what was approaching five years ago as he went about the business of knotting his necktie in that noisy baseball room with its splintery floor.

AND THE KID KIDDED In the spring five years ago Old Kid Gleason filled that clubhouse with his gruff, crackling humor as he warned some ambitious recruit not to try to catch fly balls on top of the head, as they fit into the ears better.

The Big Moose, becoming bored last year, cast asidrift with bitter words by patient Mack Simmons, with Grove, sold to help a fading treasury. Ehmske three years in retirement. Dykes and Haas sent to the White Sox for cash reasons. Bishop traded to the Red Sox in a profitable deal. Boley just a fan now. The kid somewhere in Valhalla with McGraw.

They played together, all these men, won three pennants and two world championships. Now the old clubhouse is empty of their presence. They will not return. Spring now finds bright new faces there where champions stood.

CLUB 'BAD BOY' HARD AT WORK ON 'COMEBACK'

By GEORGE KIRKSEY (United Press Staff Correspondent)

LOS ANGELES, March 20.—Perce Pat Malone, bad boy of the Chicago Cubs, who was placed on the trading block last winter and offered to every club in the league with no takers, is making a determined effort to get back into the good graces of his employers and regain the form which made him one of the best right-handed pitchers in the National League two years ago.

During the 10 days the Cubs spent at Catalina Island, Malone worked as hard as any player on the club. Wearing a rubber shirt to melt off his excess poundage, Malone set a pace for all the pitchers. Guy Bush, Lon Warneke and some of the other members of the Cubs' pitching staff reported in good condition and were ready to pitch after a few days training. The training camp wasn't a drudge for them as it was for Malone who never spared himself in the daily 4-hour workouts.

"Malone has convinced me that he means business," said Manager Charley Grimm, "and I'm glad he's back with the Cubs. There's no reason why he can't pitch good baseball yet if he makes up his mind to do it."

For three years Malone was one of the Cubs' mainstays. He won 22 games and lost 10 in 1929 and helped the Cubs capture the pennant. He won 20 games and lost 9 in 1930 and won 16 and lost 9 in 1931. His downward slide started in 1932 when he won only 15 games while losing 17. Last year he won 10 and lost 14, his worst year since he came up in 1928.

Malone was a brief holdout last winter, but when he heard the Cubs were through with him and had placed him on the block he changed his mind.

In Malone's first appearance against the White Sox last Saturday, he pitched three innings and allowed only one hit. He retired the other nine men to face him, striking out six.

MEXICO A.C. FIVE WINS FROM MILLS

One of the most accurate shooting teams ever to play on the Y. M. C. A. floor, Mexico Athletic Club's slight edge in both halves to defeat the Santa Ana Woolen Mills in basketball, 41 to 33, here last night.

Gonzalo Grijalva, Jefferson Hill center, and Xavier Fernandez, steady guard from Roosevelt High, were the only regulars who opened for the visitors, but their reserve combination was good enough to outscore the smooth Mills team, 19 to 15, during the first half. Alfonso Ybarra, reserve forward, shared playing honors with Fernandez and Grijalva.

Frank Oberlin, Santa Ana student, who transferred from his high school in Los Angeles last semester, and offensive attack headed the offensive attack of the Mills with 22 points between the halves while the towering Fred Wiener played an all-around game at center. Maurice White, usual high scorer, was held to a single point.

The floorwork of the two teams was about on a par, but the five fell short of matching the shooting skill of the clever opponent.

The lineup: Mexico A. C. (41) (33) Woolen Mills Ybarra (21) ... (12) Stephen Chavez (4) ... (1) White Grijalva (10) ... (6) Wiener Placencia (10) ... (10) Oberlin Fernandez (13) ... (2) Pikel Score by Halves Mexico A. C.—G. Chavez (10) for Ybarra, Mendoza (1) for Placencia, Ybarra for G. Chavez, for White, Woolen Mills—Lacy (2) for White, White for Lacy for Wiener, Smiley for Lacy.

WOODLAND—The Mission Reds smarted today under the whip-crack tactics of Manager Charles ("Old Sarge") Street, who "bore down" on the players after their double defeat at the hands of San Francisco.

STOCKTON—Joe Di Maggio, young San Francisco outfielder, saw a lot of low-pitched balls in batting practice of the Seals today. The reason behind that style of pitching to Joe was the success of Mission Reds' hurler in storing up trouble by keeping the ball around his knees.

BABE RUTH CLAIMS NEW BALL 'FASTER'

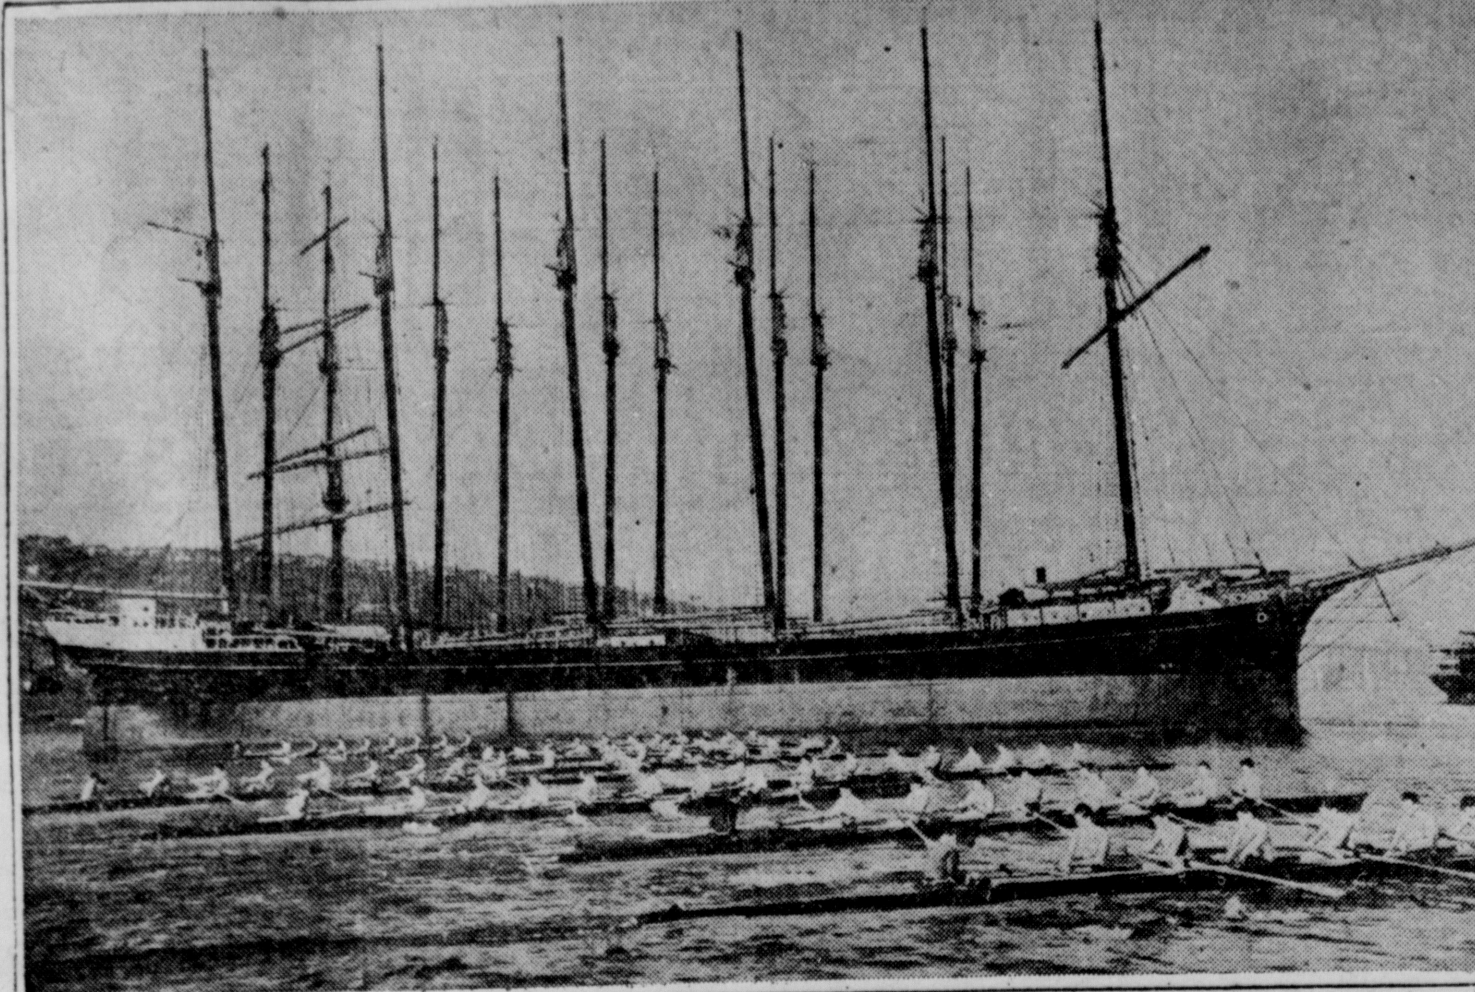

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla., March 20.—(UP)—Babe Ruth is completely sold on the "new ball."

"It sure takes a ride," he said after batting practice yesterday. "Never saw any other ball travel like the new one when you land on it. I may go places with that apple this season."

Several of the new uniform pellets were acquired by the Yankees from the first shipment to the Braves, and tried out. The Babe's dissertation on its merits was interrupted by some uncouth fellow who claimed there was little difference between it and the ball the American league used last season.

The only difference was that last year's ball had alternating red and blue stitching in the horsehide while the new pellet has unbroken red stitching. "Naw!" said the disappointed Babe.

COUNTRY CLUB WOMEN'S TEAM LOSES GROUND

Santa Ana Country club probably will have to be content with one golf championship this year.

The organization's team of men already has clinched its division of the Southern California Interclub league, but, after a 10-1-2-4-1-2 setback at Long Beach yesterday, the Santa Ana women's squad virtually abandoned hope of finishing on top, too.

With two more rounds of play, the clubs stand as follows: Mountain Meadows, 108 points; Virginia (Long Beach) 98; Santa Ana, 94-1-2; Redlands, 86-1-2; Hacienda, 86; Victoria, 84-1-2; Palos Verdes, 83, and Rio Hondo, 82.

The Santa Annas still play Rio Hondo April 16 and Palos Verdes April 23, both matches being scheduled here. Mountain Meadows meets first Redlands and then Hacienda. Virginia has a chance to overtake Mountain Meadows because its remaining matches are with the comparatively weak Palos Verdes and Rio Hondo. And it starts a duplicate schedule four points ahead of Santa Ana.

Clean sweeps of Virginia's fourth and fifth teams turned the tide in favor of the Long Beach women yesterday. Santa Ana's No. 1 tandem salvaged half-a-point, and the Marguerite Way-Ledia Mead and Mrs. Osman Playley-Mrs. J. K. McDonald combined for two points, too, until the last two teams reported.

The summary:

Mrs. J. L. McFadden and Mrs. L. H. Robinson (SA) vs. point, Mrs. F. Wilson and Mrs. F. Richards (V) 2 1/2 points; Miss Marguerite Way and Miss Ledia Mead (SA) 2; Mrs. Ruth Crawford (SA) 2; Mrs. H. Cole (V) 1; Mrs. Osman Playley and Mrs. J. K. McDonald (SA) 2; Mrs. C. Alm and Mrs. E. Wallace (V) 1; Mrs. G. B. Talbert and Mrs. R. W. McClure (SA) 2; Mrs. N. Newell and Mrs. C. Wasson (V) 3; Mrs. L. J. Bushard and Mrs. F. C. Drumm (SA) 2; Mrs. Noel Shambaugh and Mrs. M. Hofner (V) 3.

The first half of the Santa Ana-Hollywood match between men's teams was played at Hollywood club officials were informed today. The second half will be completed on the Santa Ana course April 1.

SAINT-WILSON TIF MOVED TO L. BEACH

Because Urban Military academy's nine comes here Thursday to play Santa Ana junior college, the return baseball game between Woodward Wilson and Santa Ana has been shifted to the Long Beach diamond, Clyde Cook of the Saints announced today.

Originally slated for Friday, the prep title was moved ahead at the request of Wilson's coach. It will be Santa Ana's second trip to Long Beach. The Bruins have agreed to come here Tuesday after spring vacation, which ends April 1.

Coach "Bono" Koral's collegians may take on new strength this week. Bob Winbush, regular infielder, will show Thursday whether he will be "farmed" out by the Chicago Cubs. He has been drilling with the major league team for the past few days. Joe Koral, who checked out of school to accompany Francis Conrad to Washington, may return to college. He is back in Santa Ana, after hitch-hiking as far as Red Bluff.

SPORTS WRITERS LIKE JONES

Scribes Would Be Impartial But Often They're Not

BROWN'S HAIRCUT UNPOPULAR

By HENRY MCLEMORE (United Press Staff Correspondent)

EN ROUTE AUGUSTA, GA.,—Judices, passions and loves in frigid March 20.—As the steam cars reel off their clackety-clack, I realize suddenly that the droning sound has sent an idea drifting into my head.

Here I am going down to Augusta to cover the first annual Masters' Open invitation golf championship on the Bobby Jones course. There'll likely be more than 70 other of the country's best golfers playing in that tourney. Yet I'm hoping eagerly that Bobby will win.

Why is that? Not just because he is the greatest of all golf champions trying a comeback; not just because he's a same guy facing tremendous odds, and not just because it will make a great story if he does win.

Digging beneath all the superlatives, etc., I find I'm hoping he'll win simply because the little Atlanta always struck me as a swell fellow. In spite of the honors he won, I can't remember a single thing about Bobby that would make me dislike him. I think of Jones in all the spots that I can recall, and the thoughts taste good. If all of his abilities and glories were wrapped up in some other human hide, I might be hoping secretly that he would lose.

That's a funny thing about sports writers. They're supposed to be like supreme court judges, neutral individuals, who smother personal feelings.

But Bobby Jones. There's a man!

HERSHBERGER HITS STAPP, REINKE HELD FOR $16 IN CAMP ON KIDNAP CHARGES

Willard Hershberger, Fullerton catcher obtained by Hollywood from Newark this year, is leading all the Stars in batting, according to averages for the Riverside training camp season to date.

Hershberger has an average of .516, the result of eight hits in 13 times at bat. Observers believe Hershberger may be Hollywood's first string receiver.

L. A. Jaysee Near Basketball Title

Los Angeles, representing the western division, will be favored to walk off with the Southern California jaysee basketball championship at Ontario tomorrow night, when the smooth Cubs pair off with Chaffee of the eastern conference in the second of their three-game series for the 1934 title.

An overwhelming start, in which it scored a 25-1 lead, gave Los Angeles the upper hand, 45-22. Stunned by the Cub rally, Chaffee nevertheless outpointed Los Angeles, 21-20, after this disastrous beginning.

Keim Sets Record As U.C.L.A. Wins

LOS ANGELES, March 20.—(UP)—Track and field men of the University of California at Los Angeles had a field day at the expense of Loyola college yesterday, winning a dual meet by the one-sided score of 107 2/3 to 1 1/2. Beverly Keim set a new U.C.L.A. record by clipping the half-mile in 1:59.4.

APPOINT LOCAL STEWARDS

SAN FRANCISCO, March 20.—(UP)—The California horse racing board was committed today to a policy of training California residents to handle the official duties at major race meets.

SOX HOPELESS WITHOUT LEFT HANDED HURLER

After three weeks of training, the Chicago White Sox are still in the experimental stage with the outlook none too bright for a winning club unless vital weaknesses are remedied.

The three greatest needs of the Sox are a southpaw pitcher, a left-handed hitter and a first class catcher. All of the 15 pitchers on the squad are right-handers. Outside of the pitching staff, there are only three left-handed hitters on the team, and unless the club makes a deal for a left-handed batter capable of playing regularly they may open the season April 17 with an all-right-handed batting order.

Haas Ailing, Leaves Camp The three left-handed hitters are "Mule" Haas, center fielder who left today for Hot Springs, Ark., to undergo treatment for rheumatism; "Fronchy" Uhalt, rookie outfielder from Oakland, and Morgan Snyder, third string catcher. Haas may not be able to get in shape for the opening game.

Despite these handicaps, Manager Lew Fonseca is not pessimistic. "We are not the terrible ball club that I managed two years ago but we still have a lot of room for improvement," said Fonseca. "When I took over the White Sox I set out to rebuild the team and that's what I'm still doing. We know what our needs are and we expect to make deals with some other major league clubs to bolster our weak spots before the season opens."

The most promising young pitchers are Lee Stine from San Francisco, John Pomorski from Montreal and Lester Tjeje from France.

STOEVEN OPPOSES MERLIN NEW YORK, March 20.—(UP)—Lester Stoeven of Los Angeles, who won the National indoor singles title last week, meets young Andre Merlin of France tonight in the feature contest of opening play in the International indoor tennis match between the United States and France.

PLAYTIME

It looks as if President Roosevelt has stopped playing cat and mouse with Congress—but appearances are deceiving.

The benign expression on the cat's face indicates he has other things in mind than letting the mice run wild.

True he has permitted them to frolic and make faces at him without raising a paw seriously against them. He has let them even tweak his nose on the St. Lawrence treaty, bonus vets and pay cuts. Soon he will go off quietly to sun himself down south.

But the mice are not going to run away with the capitol, so be not disturbed.

It's a game.

PURPOSE

The mice are up for re-election this year and the cat is not. If they were kept under strict scrutiny they would become spiteful. The illusion of a dictatorship would be too real.

It is much better to let them run and play politically as long as they do not get serious. Thus far they have not. Their bonus is treasured. The St. Lawrence treaty which they ruined will be revised and resubmitted, probably in better form. Their silver grilling cannot have any important effect on the administration's silver policy. They will be held within reasonable limits on the vets and wage cuts.

But the big point is that each one of these things will make votes for them back home.

The President can afford to sacrifice some temporary prestige. He has lots of it.

SILVER

This unexpected consideration for the mice is so strange they are not sure it is real or how long it will last.

Last Saturday Speaker Rainey had the scare of his life. He had given the papers a statement that Treasury Secretary Morgenthau's opposition to the silver proposals was ill-conceived. Furthermore, he promised to let the House vote on the silver bill opposed by Mr. Morgenthau.

Shortly after the publication of the speaker's promise, he was sitting with some of his cronies when word came that the White House wanted him on the telephone. Plainly, he was disturbed. He thought he was going to catch it. Looking worried, he went to the telephone.

A few minutes later he came back with a mousy grin spread all over his face, and whispered: "He didn't say a word about silver."

POLITICS

Mr. Morgenthau has been more worried about the silver business than anyone else.

He is too honest to be much of a politician, and that metal has strong political backing. The speculators who cleaned up on gold, have been expecting a similar cleanup for themselves on silver.

Inner Wall Street circles say that so much of the metal is being held in New York that storage places for it are at a premium.

Mr. Morgenthau's blunt assertion that some of the silver agitators are "not entirely disinterested" and that silver action is not necessary nor brought a political hornet's nest tumbling down on his bald brow. So much pressure was exerted that he called in newsmen and explained he had not meant to say the House silver bloc members had invested in silver stocks.

The root of the matter is that the administration has been fooled once or twice by silver politicians and is giving warning that it will not be fooled again.

AMBITION

Mr. Morgenthau is going to make a name for himself in the treasury job. The politicians thought when he was appointed he would merely be an errand boy for the White House.

As it is, he has taken his job seriously and shaken the department from top to bottom, weeding out old influences which ran the department for both parties, no matter who was President.

In doing so he has stepped on a lot of toes, both liberal and conservative.

SECURITIES ACT

Liberal spread the word around that Mr. Morgenthau held up the proposed revision of the Securities Act. He probably did. But word comes from Senate administration sources now that the trouble has been ironed out.

An amendment to the Securities Act will be passed, changing the culpability clause in a way to help promote private capital investments.

It will be offered in the Senate as a rider to one of the general bills.

NOTES

Mrs. Roosevelt did not want those four newspaper women to go along with her to Porto Rico, so they insisted.

The Hoover boys have taken the team of the offices in the national Republican club (New York). Among new officers are Bill Donovan, Hoover ex-assistant attorney general, Trubee Davidson, Hoover ex-assistant commerce secretary, and George Haggan, once George's writer for Mr. Hoover.

Certain influential Democratic congressmen are working to have the tariff bill postponed until next session. They will not be successful. The matter has gone too far for that.

The speaker has always been a silver man, since the Bryan days. He is one of the few still alive who want 16 to 1.

General Motors' Knudsen was sitting in the NRA with Standard Oil's Teague waiting for General Johnson on the automobile strike.

Said Mr. Knudsen to Mr. Teague: "If we had a deal of cards and two more people we could play bridge." Said Mr. Teague to Mr. Knudsen: "It wouldn't be fitting in these surroundings. We ought to play blackjack."

ELECTION

The coming election of New York Stock Exchange officers and governors shows signs of developing into a genteel Kilkenny brawl.

The nominating committee is tentatively sponsoring the re-election of Richard Whitney and his present associates. It's traditional that a candidate backed by the nominating committee is as sure to win as a Democrat in Mississippi. No insurgent candidate for president of the Exchange has ever gained a decision over the "regular" choice.

A few insurgent governors have slipped through the regular lines—but darned few.

Nevertheless precedents may be smashed this year. Opposition to the Whitney ticket is flaming hot beneath the surface. Brokers are showing more interest in the meetings of the nominating committee than they have in years. The regulars still hold an edge because the opposition hasn't yet united in support of specific candidates but there's time for this to happen.

ENTRENCHED

Meanwhile the old guard is entrenching itself behind publicity bulwarks. Inspired releases have been sent out from official sources belittling the antagonism to current office holders. Minor officers of the Exchange have been induced to offer odds of 20 to 1 for sweet publicity's sake.

APRIL 20 DEADLINE FOR TAX PAYMENTS; AUDITOR GIVES WARNING ON INSTALLMENTS

Along with sounding a warning to taxpayers that their 1933-34 taxes must be paid by April 20 County Auditor W. T. Lambert today advised property owners with taxes delinquent prior to this year that the first payment must be made by that date if they plan to take advantage of the opportunity offered to pay their delinquent taxes in 10 annual installments.

Lambert said that under the law, the first installment is one-tenth of the taxes which the county collects, not including those of 1933-34, with interest on the total amount from July 1, 1932 on taxes prior to 1932-33 or July 1, 1933 on 1932-33 taxes.

Each year's current taxes must be paid not later than April 20. Lambert said that while one-tenth is the minimum amount that can be paid on delinquent taxes, more may be paid and payments may be made as frequently as desired and the balance of the payment to redeem the property may be made at any time. The law will not apply to 1933-34 taxes.

Lambert pointed out that an additional advantage of the law providing for partial payment of delinquent taxes is that while the law still is in effect the taxes delinquent prior to 1933-34 draw interest only and are exempt from penalties.

There will be no tax auction in 1934, he said as section 3817-D sets January 1, 1935 as the earliest date for tax auction.

Property having taxes delinquent prior to 1933-34 may be redeemed by paying the amount of taxes delinquent with interest at seven per cent if redeemed not later than April 20, 1934. After that date penalties of one per cent per month from the date of sale to the state, together with tax collector's penalties, must be paid.

Mail Carrier Grows Big Double Lily

A freak calla lily plant which flowered with a double flower was brought to the newsroom of The Register yesterday by Orville Johnson, Santa Ana mail carrier, who grew the plant at his home on North A street, Tustin.

Both flowers are on a single long stalk, growing one inside the other. Two pistils are in the center of the twin flowers, but one is considerably larger than the other. The double cup is 1 1/2 inches across.

SCHOOL BUSES OF COUNTY SET SAFETY RECORD

Orange county's 97 school buses are 97 per cent perfect as far as compliance with the safety regulations laid down by the state highway patrol and the department of education are concerned, state officials announced today. The Orange county record has shown an increase each of the last two years being 66 per cent in 1931-32 and 95 per cent in 1932-33.

Results of a statewide inspection of the 1943 school buses by the highway patrol show a safety compliance record of 94 per cent. The inspections were started by the patrol two years ago following a series of tragic accidents involving buses which resulted in the death of a number of school children.

The 1931-32 inspections in the state revealed the school motor vehicle equipment to be only 67 per cent of standard requirements. The following year this percentage had been raised to 88 per cent and this year's inspections showed a further increase to 94 per cent, the patrol reported.

The latest inspections shows all counties except six to have a rating of more than 90 per cent. Four counties, Alameda, Napa, Nevada and Tuolumne scored a rating of 100 per cent. San Diego county scored 99.7 per cent.

SCOUTS PLAN BICYCLE TRIP TO SAN DIEGO

A group of more than 100 Orange county Boy Scouts will travel by bicycle to San Diego, where they will take boats to North Island, where they will be royally entertained by naval officials, in a trip scheduled to start at 8 o'clock the morning of March 28, it was announced today by Harrison E. White, Orange county Boy Scout executive.

Capt. Henry Meehan, chief of the Orange county division of the California highway patrol, has detailed motorcycle officers to accompany Scouts on the "bike hike" to the southern Orange county line. From that point San Diego county motorcycle officers will act as escorts.

The boys will travel all day, stopping probably at Cardiff or Encinitas where they will make camp for the night. Early the next morning the journey to San Diego will be resumed.

Upon arrival in San Diego, the bicycles will be stored in a warehouse and the boys will be met by officers of the navy and taken across the bay to North Island by boat. That evening the Orange county Scouts will stay in naval barracks, using their own blankets and equipment. Meals, however, will be provided.

During the next day the majority of the time will be spent in inspection of the big airplane plants where planes are manufactured. The boys will see the manufacturing process from beginning to finish. A special demonstration of flying will be staged for the Orange county Scouts. In the evening a moving picture show depicting the history of flights in the air will be given for the youths. The journey home will start the next morning.

Provision and equipment trucks which will accompany the Scouts on their bicycles were furnished by B. J. McMullen.

Sectional Airway Map Is Published For Southland

A sectional airway map of the lower part of California and southwestern Arizona, which shows airways and aids to air navigation as well as topographical features, has been published by the Aeronautics Branch of the Department of Commerce, and is now ready for distribution. It was announced today.

Known as the San Diego sectional airway map, this map is one of a series of 87 covering the entire United States planned by the Aeronautics Branch in connection with its airway mapping program, which is handled by the Coast and Geodetic Survey of the Department of Commerce.

On the San Diego map the airman will find the geographical location of airports and landing fields; routes of the airways; the location of beacon lights, intermediate landing fields and radio range beacon courses serving the Federal airways; railroads, Federal and other important highways; electric power lines, cities and towns, rivers and lakes, political boundaries, magnetic variations, and in short, all necessary features that will aid in flying any course he may wish to take, whether or not it lies along an established airway.

Section airway maps sell for 40 cents each, with a reduction of 15 cents per map if 20 or more are ordered in a single lot. They may be ordered from the Director of Coast and Geodetic Survey, Washington, D. C. Orders must be accompanied by remittances in the form of cash, postal money order, draft or certified check.

Thief Ransacks Home; Takes 75c

Believing that there may be a connection in several small burglaries reported in past weeks, police are investigating a report made by Stanley Main, 1415 West Ninth street, that a boy took 75 cents from his home Saturday afternoon.

Main said the boy approached him in his backyard and tried to sell a magazine. When the boy went away, he apparently entered an unlocked door in the house and started ransacking drawers. Mrs. Main drove up in a car and found the house in great disorder and police were notified. It is believed that the boy was scared away by the car, since the money was taken from a small box and other valuables were left untouched.

Two Hostesses Divide Birthday Honors With Guest

Although a party given Saturday afternoon in the Charles Fox home, 1511 Louise street, ostensibly served to celebrate the birthday anniversary which the two hostesses, Mrs. Fox and Mrs. J. Floyd Vale, chance to share with Ireland's patron saint, guests speedily found that the incentive for the delightful affair was in reality Mrs. George Lawrence whose anniversary fell on the preceding day.

This information was given at the luncheon hour, for each of the flower-laden tables had small scrolls which revealed the surprise, and informed Mrs. Lawrence that she was truly the guest of honor. Ireland's own green was cleverly stressed in the table appointments, which included low green bowls for the punch centerpieces, nut cups and similar pretty details. With the dessert course appeared individual cakes each with its single green paper set in the green and white icing.

For after-luncheon diversion the hostesses distributed tea towels to be hemmed and embroidered as a birthday gift to Mrs. Lawrence, and maintained this intimate domestic motif in their serving prizes which beautifully embroidered tea towels went to Mrs. J. B. Robinson and Mrs. George Townsend. In presenting the completed gifts to Mrs. Lawrence the hostesses gave her also a graceful vase filled with sweet peas.

Accepting the hospitality of Mrs. Fox and Mrs. Vale were their honor guest, Mrs. George Lawrence, and Mesdames C. M. Linthicum, Gilbert Brown, Charles Tance, H. P. Smith, J. B. Robinson, Clarence McWilliams, R. J. Howland, C. J. Marks, Earle F. Kent, Fred Hein, Jack W. Snow, Delbert Lewis, C. A. Rowe, Kenneth Brown, Fred Lawrence, James Hughes and George Townsend.

Noted Pianist Presents His Charming Bride To Friends Here

Special interest attached to the presence in Santa Ana Sunday of Mr. and Mrs. Maurice Zam of Los Angeles, who were guests of Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Gustlin, 816 North Main street, and making their first post-nuptial visit here in the city of some of Mr. Zam's musical triumphs.

The marriage of Maurice Zam, internationally known pianist and writer on musical subjects, and Hedwig Reicher, now an actress-producer of Hollywood who came to this country from dramatic triumphs abroad, was an event of early February that deeply interested Santa Ana friends of Mr. Zam.

Many of these friends took the opportunity of the short visit here Sunday, to meet his bride, whom they found to be a woman of rare charm of personality, yet with that simplicity of manner that is almost always a characteristic of those who are truly great. For that Mrs. Zam is a personage to be left little doubt in the minds of those who were privileged to hear her Sunday evening.

For so many friends were gathered in the Gustlin Music Arts studio on North Sycamore street, that Mr. and Mrs. Gustlin prevailed upon Mrs. Zam to read one of Edna St. Vincent Millay's poems. She chose "Renaissance," generally conceded to be the finest thing yet written by the contemporary American poet, and read it with a fire and intensity that opened up new beauties to her audience.

To complete the pleasures of the evening, Mr. Zam consented to play, contrasting compositions of the seventeenth century with those of the extreme modernists of the present.

Accompanying them from the city for the day was Miss Frieda Sterling, Los Angeles impresario under whose management, both Mr. and Mrs. Zam are to appear professionally in Wilshire Ebell theater. "Four Sunday Evenings" April 8, featuring Hedwig Reicher, actress; Maurice Zam, concert pianist; gypsy singer, and Elise Dufour's Dance Group. Miss Blanche Ebell program with gratifying success.

Young Couples Follow Dance With Party

Among pleasant affairs following Junior Ebell Book Review section's dance Saturday night at The Corner House, was a buffet supper in the home of Mr. and Mrs. George E. Bradley, 512 South Flower street. Mrs. Bradley was Miss Elma McBride.

Refreshments were served from a table centered with yellow blooms and lighted with matching tapers in topaz candlesticks.

In the group with the hosts, Mr. and Mrs. Bradley, were Mr. and Mrs. Ethan Louderback, San Juan Capistrano, Mr. and Mrs. John Bradley, Mr. and Mrs. Alvin Stauffer and Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Morris, this city.

Pretty Parties Given As Compliment to Miss Slabaugh

Two interesting social events of the past week-end had as their incentive, that charming young bride-elect, Miss Helen Slabaugh, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. F. W. Slabaugh, whose betrothal to Russell Krebs Reagan of San Bernardino, was recently announced, and whose approaching wedding date makes her of supreme interest among her many friends both here in her home city, and in University of Southern California campus activities.

Sorority Tea

Latest in this duo of hospitalities, was the formal tea at which three of Miss Slabaugh's Alpha Chi Omega sorority sisters entertained. They were the Misses Polly White, Maxine Adams and Winifred Jones, and the scene of their hospitality was the home of Miss White's parents, Mr. and Mrs. White, 336 South Rossmore, Los Angeles.

Delphiniums and anemones lent a vernal loveliness to the scene, enhanced by the guests in their frocks of delicate hues. Miss Slabaugh wore one of her trousseau gowns, a sea-foam green crepe beaded with silver in harmony with her silver slippers. Her corsage of pink rosebuds was the gift of her hostesses. Miss White was in cameo-pink with organdy ruffles; Miss Jones wore palest blue; Miss Adams was in apricot, and Mrs. Earl P. Hoisington (Virginia Slabaugh) receiving with them, wore turquoise blue.

Miss Slabaugh was asked to pre-side at the tea table where the colors of anemones, starting the lace cover, were repeated in candles rising from crystal candelabra. An elaborate menu of sandwiches, cake, petits fours and ices, was served with tea and coffee.

Prominent place was given a table laden with china, a complete set of which was the gift of the tea guests to Miss Slabaugh. A souvenir of the day was the portfolio recounting the romance of Miss Slabaugh and Mr. Reagan, completed by the use of amusing pictures arranged by the guests, and their clever captions.

Among Alpha Chi Omegas present in addition to the hostess trio, their honor guest and Mrs. Hoisington, were the Misses Mary Berenson, Dunlap, Margaret Daigh, Myra Jane McClung, Katherine Weiss, Harriet Louise Touton, Marjorie Cameron, Irma Bernadine, Ramona Vandergrift, Valeta Vandergrift, Eleanor Levins, Helen Anderson, Sallie Ridenour, Eloise Thompson, Peggy Schuck, Elizabeth Bower and Priscilla Roberts.

Bridge Tea

Here in the city of her girlhood, Miss Slabaugh is being equally feted, and the most recent party was that planned by Mrs. J. E. Paul and Mrs. Lewis F. Moulton as a celebration of St. Patrick's Day.

The home of Dr. and Mrs. Paul on Main street, Austin, was graced with unusually lovely garden flowers for the occasion, which was kept on a plane of simplicity to accord with a request of the bride-elect. While an Irish theme was apparent, it was dominated by a bridal motif expressed at once by the tally cards distributed for bridge. Players were equally divided between contract and auction.

Prizes among auction players went to Miss Mary Bell and Miss

An intimate family group took part in the luncheon, served at a table made lovely with sweet peas and roses effectively arranged as a centerpiece. Other decorative details as well as a cake whose frosting bore the words "Happy Birthday," were in St. Patrick's green. Mrs. Walker received many gifts.

On the committee with her were Mesdames Viva Gossett, Ethel Warner, Thelma Williamson, Melia Brayton, Marjorie Letto and Jessie Breckenridge.

A short program arranged for the occasion included solos, "When Irish Eyes are Smiling" and "Believe Me If All Those Endearing Young Charms" sung by Mrs. Blanche Owens. Mrs. Baker read an article on St. Patrick's day.

The tea hour brought refreshments in furtherance of an Irish theme. Green gelatin salad, sandwiches and shamrock cookies were served with coffee. Sweet peas served as decorations.

markets, all ready to clean and make into salad. If they are new to you and you really like green salads, you will love this one. Wash the 'lions' well, pick them apart, but don't cut the pink root. That's where all the flavor lies. Just see that no grubby or leaves are staying after hours. Cut the greens into a salad bowl, add the chopped onion, and the hot dressing, toss with two forks until every shred is coated with oil. Taste and add salt and pepper.

Have you had this experience with meats kept in a mechanical refrigerator? A rather large piece of steak was bought one day this week, part of which was pan-broiled for dinner. It was tender and full of flavor. The remaining steak was put in the refrigerator and when it was used again, I found it was frozen. It was hurriedly melted. This is my belief that fully frozen meat does not cook successfully unless it is slowly allowed to thaw out, and that well above the freezing point is the proper temperature for fine steak.

TODAY'S RECIPE

Bacon Delights

2 small cans tomato hot sauce.
3 Tbsp. minute tapioca.
1 Tsp. dry mustard.
Salt and pepper to taste.
6 slices bread for toast.
6 slices cheese to fit bread.
12 slices bacon.
Dash of garlic and onion salt or both vegetables, minced fine.

Most of the work lies in making and cooling the tomato sauce. Turn the two cans of sauce into a small sauce pan, add the various seasonings and the tapioca and simmer gently until the tapioca is entirely melted. This requires about 30 minutes of slow cooking.

These bacon delights are broiled, so let me caution you about attempting to put the loafed slices under the broiler and expect the slices to stay loaded—they won't—so put the slices into a shallow pan for broiling, or arrange them on one of those earthenware tiles used for broiling.

Cut the crusts off the bread and toast lightly on both sides. Arrange in the pan, fit a slice of cheese to each piece of toast, and on the cheese, put a big spoonful of the tomato sauce. Cover the slices closely with strips of bacon, overlapping them. Sit under a medium broiler flame and toast until the bacon crisps.

Each of the six servings has a calory value of 335, chiefly energy makers. Serve with the main dish a crisp green salad with French dressing, and for dessert, sliced oranges or a simple water ices.

Wednesday: Baked liver. If member of your family is on liver diet, this way of cooking will afford a welcome change.

THE ROMANTIC RUNAWAY

BEGIN HERE TODAY
Pablito, a handsome youth, works at the palatial home of the Field family. When Field's daughter, Estelle, arrives Pablito falls in love with her.

Pablito knows nothing of his parentage. He is a foundling and a servant girl. He makes his home with Norris Noyes, wanted for a murder years ago. Noyes finds when a guest of Field's sees him and recognizes him. Pablito, dressed as a tenderloin, goes to see Estelle. There is a tender love scene between them. The same night Pablito strikes a man he has been mistreating a while. He thinks the man is dead. Beau and Lottie, two thieves, see this. The next thing Pablito knows he is in a motor boat with these two. Beau has a gun and tells Pablito to head the boat for Cuba. NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY.

CHAPTER XIII
The sea was calm and Field had reason for his pride in the "Silver Dart." Soon Pablito saw what the man and girl beside him could not see—an indent of water cupped between jagged rocks and leading upward to a deserted stretch of beach. Beyond the yellow sand was a deep green tangle of tropic jungle.

The water was growing shallow and the going was perilous. Pablito knew. Lottie and Beau quailed mildly, unaware of the danger. Pablito turned the speed low. Lottie was saying, "What the hell are we going to do with this Leviathan?"

"Turn it over and hope to God it'll drift to sea," Beau answered. "It's a damn shame," the girl muttered. "It's a swell boat!" "It wouldn't be so swell to be caught in it," Beau told her. The boat scraped a rock and poised for a second, far tilted to one side. Lottie's eyes grew frightened but she made no sound; Beau swore; Pablito turned off the engine, stepped out on the rock, pushed the boat off and leaped back into it. Once more he turned the power on. They could not go much farther, he knew, but he wanted to be well out of the water in which sharks might be swimming before he began to pilot the crew ashore.

Again the boat struck a rock, this time squarely under the prow, and so sharply that it vibrated from the shock. Again Beau swore loudly; again Lottie made no sound but her hands gripped one another until her knuckles were white.

Pablito saw a natural channel ahead as he stepped out this time. If he could make it he could get within 100 feet of shore. Slowly and carefully he nosed the boat through an opening as Beau screamed high and shrill that he couldn't make it. Then Pablito turned off the engine to sit back. "All change at Manhattan Junction," Lottie said.

"We'll get you to shore and send the boat out," Beau said, eyes on Lottie. Pablito rolled up his flared trousers, slitting them in order to pull them high on his thighs. Then he stepped into the water. "I'll carry you," he said to Lottie. She smiled as she held out her arms and he lifted her over the edge of the boat.

"Oh, baby!" she murmured ecstatically as her arms tightened around his neck. "That there Sir Walter Raleigh musta took lessons from you!"

It was a difficult feat, getting

BEACH COUPLE OBSERVES 54TH WEDDING EVENT

LAGUNA BEACH, March 20.—Before he began the celebration of his 54th wedding anniversary, Carlton L. Greer insisted on putting in his regular unpaid day's work on Elmer Jahraus park. It was the 150th day donated by a comparatively newcomer to the city to help its beautification.

Mrs. Greer is working under the direction of Mrs. R. Coleman Duse, chairman of a special committee of the Garden club, which took over a triangular piece of ground owned by the city, had it dedicated as Elmer Jahraus park and has continued to improve it day by day.

Mr. and Mrs. Greer were married at Bay City, Mich. He is known as the founder and national organizer of the thrift movement in the public schools and Mrs. Greer in a number of large cities for her work in organizing Dickens clubs. Mr. Greer's brother, the Rev. A. C. Greer, is a noted New York clergyman and one of the founders of the Church of Christ.

Gifts and messages began to arrive for the pair Saturday. There was a celebration on St. Patrick's day and another on Sunday and many relatives helped. They have three children, Miss Ethelwyn Greer, who has a candy shop in this city; Miss Marion Greer, who has a shop in the Hotel Vista del Arroyo in Pasadena and T. C. Greer, who manufactures candy in Glendale. All were present for the double anniversary.

Jackson, Mrs. Roy Larson, official host and hostesses; Mrs. C. W. Patrick, programs; J. Sherman Denny, community beautification; Mrs. Stella White, beach beautification; Mrs. Pearl Jones, flowers; Mrs. Edna Herron, awards; Mrs. Grace Dalaney, membership; Mrs. Vern Keller, pilgrimages.

Beau settled to soliloquize wistfully about his need for cigars, food and a shave. The water had pasted his garments to him and Pablito saw that a lumpy bag hung on his chest, fastened with a cord about his neck. "We can't get going until it's dark," Beau said. "No one answered. He stretched out and soon was sound asleep. Lottie edged closer to Pablito. "You're a good sport," she said and her voice was almost soft.

The afternoon wore on and the heat of the sun began to diminish. One of those breezes which, strong or mild, seems to keep the undying foliage of Cuba constantly aflutter crept into the wood. Lottie, who had slept, stirred, sat up, stretched and rubbed her eyes. Pablito, who had kept watch, smiled at her.

"What's next?" she asked after a yawn which blurred her words. "Quien sabe?" Pablito answered. Beau opened his eyes. "You ich fersthay Spanish?" he asked, a gleam in his eyes. Pablito nodded.

"You're going to be useful to us," Beau announced, "and I'll see that you don't forget it or that we saved your life, old-timer!" At dusk Pablito scouted about with Beau while Lottie waited. They found a hard-beaten road not far away and beyond Pablito saw a Hibiscus hedge, its huge scarlet flowers like a mass of sporadic flames. Back of this was a clump of poinsettia, fully six feet tall, its blossoms a glowing crimson. There were cultivated banana trees and Pablito knew they must be nearing someone's country estate.

Then down the road a creeping blotch appeared and as it grew larger Pablito saw it was an ox cart drawn by two sleek animals with rings in their noses. A two-wheeled, creaking, screeching ox cart. He and Beau stepped to the side of the road and dropped there behind a tall tree that afforded

When he could think of anything except the struggle with the churning water and rocks he felt Beau's hand. "All right!" Beau gasped. He had swum out to meet Pablito. "It's not much farther," he said a moment later. Then Pablito, with a turn, found the unseen sea bed, and pulled and twisted by the water, but making headway.

Lottie, despite Beau's order, stood on the beach waiting for them. "Honest to Gawd," she said as they joined her, weak and heavy with water. "Honest to Gawd that got my goat!"

The cover of trees and dense undergrowth protected them. On the beach Pablito, a fat lizard blinking their beady, glittering eyes in the sun and a spider four inches across with red markings. In the wood Pablito, a spotted undergrowth away from a spot that was high and dry and after beating it hard with his water-

PASTOR SPEAKS AS BEACH CITY P.-T.A. MEETS

HUNTINGTON BEACH, March 20.—The Rev. Russell Stroup, pastor of Christ Church By-the-Sea at Newport Beach, was the speaker at the meeting of the Huntington Beach Union High school P.-T. A. Monday afternoon. In his topic, "Youth and the New Deal," he pointed out the responsibility of maintaining the high standard of education for the youth of the nation in spite of the depression. He said the schools were endeavoring to instill high ideals of character and citizenship as well as educate the young people to earn a living.

M. G. Jones, who attended a convention of educators in the east, reported that a much more optimistic feeling prevailed at the gathering than a year ago.

Miss Princess Booth of the English department of high school gave a humorous reading by O'Henry. Lawrence Honold gave two whistling solos, accompanied at the piano by Miss June Rime. Mrs. E. Rime was chairman of the program for the day.

At the short business meeting conducted preceding the program, a nominating committee was elected to bring in a report at the next meeting. Mrs. Gail Berry was named chairman of the committee, with M. G. Jones, Mrs. John Waage, Mrs. Hadley Pryor as other members.

Annual visiting day will be observed April 16 when all the patrons are urged to visit the school during classes and take lunch in the cafeteria or bring their lunch and enjoy it in the faculty dining room. Mrs. C. W. Patrick is chairman of visiting day and will register the visitors.

Capistrano and outside points were invited to share in the festivities. Captain Stauffer is in charge of the camp.

protection. As he hid Pablito thought of the laoboa, Cuba's deadly little six-inch, dust-colored snake which can burrow straight downward in the hardest earth almost in a second.

The cart drew near. It was filled with girls dressed in tissue paper costumes, their paper skirts flaring, paper bodices cut low and caps that seemed like lightly hovering butterflies on their pretty heads. The man who drove the slowly plodding beasts was grinning pleasantly. He was dressed as a clown. The girls' chatter was high, shrill and happy.

When the screech of the cart wheels was dimmed Beau crept from his hiding place and Pablito followed.

"What the hell was that?" Beau asked.

"It's the carnival," Pablito told him. "I'd forgotten but tomorrow must be one of the Sundays in Lent when everyone masquerades."

"Come on then!" Beau sang out loudly, his tone filled with relief. "That means we're safe!"

THE TINYMITES

The little eagle chirped aloud. "My, my, what an excited crowd of funny looking, long-beaked birds," said Duncy, with a grin. "I guess they're hungry as can be. I hope they don't try eating me. I think this is about the queerest place I've ever been."

Then, to the big 'bloon bird he said, "Say, can't you fly along, instead of dropping me down in that nest? I see no fun in store."

"It's lots of fun to see strange sights, when I'm with all the Tinymites, but not alone. Please take me back to my wee friends once more."

"That can't be done, I sadly fear," replied the bird. "I'm leaving here to fly around and find some food. I'm starved and want to eat."

"You're growing very heavy, lad, so I must drop you. It's too bad, but I can't fly much farther with you hanging to my feet."

And then the bird swooped down real low and loudly shouted, "Here you go!" Wee Duncy felt a sudden jerk, then landed in the nest.

The little eagles squirmed around and, my, they made an awful sound. "Be quiet," snapped poor Duncy. "I am tired, and want to rest."

Just then, right overhead, he heard the shrieking of another bird. It was the mother eagle. She was mad as she could be. "Go get the 'bloon bird," Duncy cried. "He took me on a crazy ride and dropped me in your nest. It isn't my fault. Don't blame me!"

Then came a very thrilling fight.

Historic Breaks For Freedom

WHEN MADAM DE POMPADOUR'S PRISONER ESCAPED FROM THE BASTILLE

For insulting his king's mistress, Henry de Latude spent 35 years in prison, from which he broke away several times, only to be caught and jailed again

By Alfred Sorenson

THE escape of Henry de Latude from the Bastille was as cleverly designed and as boldly carried out as was that of Casanova from "The Leads," the notorious Venetian prison. The two exploits were similar in many respects, and it is difficult to decide which was the more ingenious, intricate and daring. Besides gaining his temporary freedom from the Bastille, Latude made his escape from several other prisons, each dash for liberty being characterized by its remarkable boldness.

Latude, son of a marquis, was admitted to the French military service at the age of 22, and was made a supernumerary officer. His many years of imprisonment were the result of a scheme to promote his personal interests.

While seated on a bench in the garden of the Tuileries he heard two men bitterly assail the infamous Madam de Pompadour, chief mistress of the dissolute monarch, Louis XIV, and a dictator who thought nothing of condemning to perpetual imprisonment the many offenders against her pride and illegitimate power.

The thought struck Latude that by denouncing the two men to Madam de Pompadour he could win her friendship and patronage. He accordingly informed her that they were plotting against her life.

But his scheme was too transparent. Madam de Pompadour easily saw through it, and on May 4, 1749, Latude was lodged in the Bastille without a trial and was denied all communication with the outside world.

AFTER four months in the Bastille Latude was transferred to the prison at Vincennes. He thought now of a plan of escape. He was allowed to take a daily walk in the prison garden and one day, while being let out for his exercise, he rushed down a stairway and bolted a door on the outside, thus preventing pursuit by his guard.

Meeting a sentry, he asked him if he knew the whereabouts of the Abbe de St. Sauveur, who had permission to enter an adjoining garden and visit an ecclesiastic confined there on a charge of heresy.

Latude was allowed to pass on. He played the same game on three other sentries and walked out a free man, having been confined nine months. His liberty, however, was cut short. He made known his hiding place in Paris and pleaded for a pardon.

His memorial to the king was couched in humble and penitent language, expressing the greatest respect for the mistress of his royal highness, who referred the case to Madam de Pompadour. Her answer was an order for the immediate re-arrest of the humble petitioner.

Latude was returned to the Bastille and placed in a horrible dungeon. While in a fit of madness he wrote in a book some lines satirizing Madam de Pompadour. This book was seized by the governor of the Bastille who, upon discovering the fatal lines, gave the volume to Pompadour in the hope of ingratiating himself with her.

Upon reading the satire she became furious, and from that time there was no hope of the offender ever receiving any leniency at her hands.

AT the end of 18 months Latude was removed to an upper chamber and was allowed a servant, who in three months was taken sick and died in the cell, the prison rules dooming a servant to the same captivity as his master. At the expense of his father, Latude was permitted to have another servant—a young man named D'Alegre—who proved to be a congenial companion rather than a menial.

D'Alegre had been a prisoner in the Bastille for three years for an offense against Madam de Pompadour similar to the one committed by Latude. Against these two offenders she swore everlasting revenge and declared that nothing short of her death would ever release them.

"The bare thought of escape from the Bastille with its enclosures, lofty towers and precautions could only appear as the result of insanity," wrote Latude in his memoirs. Nevertheless he kept up a continual thinking in the hope of eventually evolving some workable plan.

His first study was the chimney in his room. It rose to the topmost tower of the building, and was full of tiers of gratings, which in some places left barely room enough for the passage of smoke. Even if the summit could be reached there would be a sheer descent of 200 feet into a deep moat, protected by a high wall which it would be necessary to scale.

Latude sought to win Pompadour's favor by denouncing her traducers, but she saw through his scheme and he was arrested and dragged off to the Bastille.

Latude and D'Alegre were without tools and were surrounded by spies. A rope ladder about 200 feet long was needed for the descent from the chimney and a ladder of wood was required for the climb over the moat wall.

IN the cell beneath that of the two prisoners no one could be heard moving about or making the least noise, although it was known that the chamber was occupied. Latude concluded that there must be a double floor, with a space between, thus deadening the sound. By a clever stratagem he learned that this was true, and that between the floor of his cell and the ceiling of the cell below there was a space of about five feet.

D'Alegre now woke up to the possibility of freedom and joined enthusiastically in the venture. Taking two iron clamps, the supports of a camp table, they sharpened them to an edge on the stones of the hearth, and from the steel of a tinder box they formed a knife, with which they made a handle for the clamps to be used in extracting the iron bars from the chimney.

Lifting a square of the tiling, they dug through the floor and found that there was a space of about four feet between the two stories, thus confirming Latude's conjecture. They now had a place of concealment for their tools and other equipment.

The next six months they spent in rope-making at hours when not likely to be disturbed. Latude's trunk contained much linen, which they unraveled patiently and twisted into stout cords. From these they made a 25-foot ladder to be used in climbing into the chimney to tear out the gratings.

The bars were set in extremely hard cement which they softened with water squirted from the mouth into the holes previously drilled.

The next thing on the program was making a 25-foot ladder of wood out of billets of firewood, 18 inches long. Latude made a saw out of an iron candlestick, and with it and the knife they managed to construct a collapsible ladder, whose parts were hidden in the floor.

The unraveling of the linen garments was now resumed and a rope ladder 180 feet long was manufactured.

It required 18 months to complete all these arrangements, and in the night of Feb. 25, 1756, Latude and D'Alegre ventured forth upon their flight. Latude, the first to reach the top of the chimney, drew up a rope with a twine to which it had been attached, and with this rope he hoisted the wooden ladder, the rope ladder and other necessary equipment.

He securely fastened the rope ladder to the top of the chimney and then D'Alegre made a comparatively easy ascent. The two fugitives, stepping down from the chimney, stood upon the platform of the Bastille and surveyed the situation.

Now came the perilous descent to the moat. The rope ladder was securely tied to a cannon. Latude made the descent without accident, and was soon followed by D'Alegre. The ladder was left hanging.

The fugitives found themselves waist deep in the cold water of the moat. They now had to dig through a five-foot wall with their crude tools. This was a difficult job, but in nine hours they removed enough stones to permit their passage. While they were at work they were frequently obliged to duck under water long enough to allow a sentinel to pass by on the summit of the wall.

SQUEEZING through the small aperture, Latude and D'Alegre were free. Traveling separately, they reached Brussels, where D'Alegre was captured. Latude fled into Holland but was there taken into custody by the Dutch authorities at the request of the French ambassador.

Upon being returned to the Bastille Latude was heavily ironed and put in a cell.

Pompadour eventually died, and Latude immediately applied for his release. A pardon was denied, however, and he was removed to his old quarters at Vincennes. He escaped from Vincennes during a heavy fog, fled to Paris and hid with friends, when he again applied for a pardon. Expecting the pardon to be granted, he went to Fontainebleau—and was instantly rearrested.

He spent 26 months digging a hole through the wall of his cell—only to be transferred to another cell when the job was almost finished. Then, as a crowning misfortune, he was transferred to a madhouse at Charenton.

Finally, through the intervention of influential friends, he was released—on March 7, 1784, after having spent 35 years, the best half of his life, in prison. He had the satisfaction of being present at the taking and destruction of the Bastille in 1789, and as a leading victim of tyranny he was highly popular with the French Revolutionists.

He died in 1804 at the age of 80.

GET OUT YOUR DICTIONARY AND YOUR BOOK OF SYNONYMS

It is to be presumed that the words in Webster's International dictionary are to be used, and that no one should be criticized who uses these words correctly, even if they are sesquipedalian in their length. But a certain amount of restraint should be exercised by those who command a large vocabulary in piling up too many of them in one paragraph.

Here is an extract from a review written for a highbrow magazine on a reprint of the works of the Russian writer Dostoyevsky. For most ordinary readers it might just as well have been written in Russian:

The apparently amorphous agglomerate of Dostoyevsky's work on close inspection reveals consistent and conscious architectural construction. The incrustation of irrelevant incidents, autonomous interpolations and unassimilable sub-plots cannot defeat the linear logic of the crystal clarity which his novels essentially have.

But here is something that takes the medal with the palm on it. It is a resolution introduced by a Republican member of the city council of Cleveland, Ohio, and adopted by that body, expressing appreciation of President Roosevelt on the first anniversary of his inauguration. The resolution was unanimously adopted. After its reading and adoption, the councilman remarked, "I take it that those who heard this resolution have been edified thereby." The name of the gentleman is suggestive of one who has kissed the blarney stone and taken a day off to study Roget's Thesaurus. Well, with the rising inflection of Bill Hay in introducing Amos 'n' Andy, "Here they are."

Whereas, the president of the United States, the Hon. Franklin Delano Roosevelt, has just completed one of the most eventful of years, one replete with remedial and efficacious accomplishments, which have been of material benefit to all of the people, that has ever been recorded in the pages of the history of this country, and

Whereas his numerous achievements have inspired an incomparable confidence and have engendered incessant exultation on the part of many of his disconsolate countrymen, and to the impetuous and impoverished means of sustenance and livelihood, and for organized labor an unparalleled impetus and boon, and

Whereas, his inimitable personality radiates probity and confidence, so much so that it has had the effect of enthraling a vast majority of our population. This invaluable asset, combined with his administrative ability and ingenuity, augurs optimistically and is the best guarantee of the sure return of more favorable living conditions in the country; and

Whereas, his humanitarian and beneficial acts are so innumerable that to enumerate them would extend this resolution to inordinate length, or to designate a particular act as meritorious and effectuating some measure of relief and fruition to the people would only create an invidious distinction, so numerous are his accomplishments, any one of which will permanently endear him to an infinite number of our people; now,

Be it resolved, by the Council of the city of Cleveland, that it hereby express sincere and implicit confidence in the integrity, veracity, sincerity of purpose and the superlative ability of President Roosevelt to deliver us from the incubus of the depression, and hence the restoration of permanent prosperity for the United States.

We hope that those of our readers who have read these resolutions have been edified thereby. Anyway, there is a laugh stowed away in them.

NATIONAL TAX DAY

From every part of the country come reports of the flood of tax returns that have been sent in. Every internal revenue collector has had to draw upon extra help to take care of the business. Literally, hundreds of thousands have been added to the tax list this year.

We do not know all the reasons for this increase. There are doubtless some who are sending in for the first time because they feel that the government needs every cent it can get to carry on its emergency operations. There are many others, perhaps, who may have been frightened into sending in because of the increased vigilance of the Treasury Department in ferreting out evaders of taxes.

We would not insinuate that the Department of Justice announced its purpose to look into the tax payments of Andrew Mellon, Henry Ford, and others for sinister reasons at this particular time. But certainly such an announcement could not have been more perfectly timed if it had been intended as a warning to possible evaders. The small taxpayers of the income tax have been thoroughly disgusted with the fact, that they, out of their limited incomes, should have paid a tax to the government, while men like Morgan and Mitchell and others paid not one penny.

It is not an idle prediction to say that not for years will the government come so near to getting the last dollar due as it will this year. On every side men are reported as taking their declarations much more seriously than in former years. Mistakes, of course, will be made. But the expert accountants of the Treasury Department will easily detect whether or not some failure to report income is mistaken or intentional. The principle that those who have should pay will, this year, be rigidly enforced.

CONSUL AND PETS ARRIVES IN MOSCOW

Angus I. Ward, newly appointed United States consul at Moscow, and his wife, arrived in that city the other day with impedimenta which is said to have astounded the natives, and well it might. He carried with him a prize-winning chicken, two cats, and a dog as well as seventeen pieces of luggage. To say the least it must have impressed the Russians that the United States consul is a bit out of touch with realities as they are experienced in Russia. It is reported that there are few pets in the cities of Russia where the problem of feeding them is very real indeed. Only useful pets are tolerated, for the most part, and what dogs there are are large ones for the reason that certain types of large dogs are regarded as useful in case of war and therefore have a ration allotment.

Housing conditions in Moscow and Petrograd, too, do not permit most people to have a menagerie such as the Wards carried with them. But the Wards would probably have their pets if they had nothing but a closet, for they traveled with them, all occupying the compartment on the train, according to the report.

Mr. Ward's eccentricities probably do not detract one whit from his ability as a representative of the United States for, to start with, he must be interesting to the Russians and that is an excellent starting point.

THE PRESIDENT TO TRAVEL

It now appears that Franklin Roosevelt is to be a widely traveling president. It is reported following the adjournment of Congress, the president is to board the cruiser Indianapolis, and visit the Virgin Islands, Porto Rico, the Canal Zone, the Hawaiian Islands, if time will permit, and then California and the country to the Atlantic coast.

There is a double advantage in a trip like that. It will give the president a first-hand view of our outlying possessions, some of which have never been visited by a president; and it will give the people of these possessions an opportunity to see their president. Those who listened to the broadcast from Hawaii on the first anniversary of the president's term of office, will recall the urgent and cordial invitation of the one surviving Hawaiian princess to the president to visit the islands.

We can well imagine the pleasure it would give the people of all these possessions to meet the affable gentleman who now occupies the White House. No president we have ever had is more approachable, and none has had a greater interest in men, women and children. His charming personality and fine manner immediately make friends. And while he is on the way, the people of the Philippines ought to meet him. Perhaps if they did they would be less anxious to be separated from the country of which they are now a part.

HEAVY COST FOR SERVICE

The New Republic points out the cogent fact, in connection with the air-mail situation, that the private companies carrying mail have themselves had heavy loss of life among the pilots. And furthermore, since the army took over the air-mail more people have been killed in commercial flying than in the air-mail. In criticizing the activity of the administration for cancelling the air-mail contracts and calling upon the army to fly the mail, with the assurance of at least one army aeroplane authority that the army could handle the mail, these facts should be borne in mind.

Considering the lives lost the last few weeks by both the commercial lines and the army one is astounded at the heavy price in lives lost that the country is paying for fast service. Certainly the loss is so heavy that every known safety device should form a part of the equipment of every plane which a human being is called upon to operate in this hazardous service.

Capsized by Their Armaments

Christian Science Monitor

Bottom up in a heavy sea. That is how a Japanese scouting craft found the Tomozuru, regarded as a masterpiece of naval design. To Japan it spelled the possibility of increasing that country's sea power in spite of the London Treaty, since the ship was in a category not limited by that agreement.

The disaster off the Goto Islands happens to be, if not particularly significant, at least symbolic. Evidently the Tomozuru was as top heavy as naval budgets are becoming. The 527-ton craft carried five-inch guns, extraordinarily heavy armaments for its size. The nations seem at this moment bent on acquiring armaments proportionately burdensome. The Japanese authorities had had experience with another ship of this type which capsized off Formosa in 1932. Experts studied the problem thus presented, and as a result the Tomozuru is reported to have been equipped with special anti-capsizing devices. Perhaps other experts will now study the problem involved in piling up national deficits due to naval ambition, and provide the nations with anti-capsizing devices for their fiscal and foreign policies.

Or, as the case of the Tomozuru indicates, it might be better to place faith in some other sort of stabilizer—for instance, the cultivation of good will and a desire to make naval treaties effective instead of to circumvent their spirit.

England Improves

Oakland Tribune

England, with a recovery program of its own, is reporting improvements in all classes of industry. In February, says the Ministry of Labor, the number of jobless was reduced by 71,159 and "not since 1927 has great a fall. Industries showing the greatest improvement include building, public works contracting, boot and shoe manufacturing, tailoring and pottery manufacture."

As the depression has been world-wide, recovery may be expected in the various nations. There is an assurance in the widespread of better conditions which speaks of fundamental forces at work. While the various programs of governments may afford stimulation it becomes apparent that no one can have all the virtues and that recovery may be expected under way or even under none at all.

Of particular interest to many will be the word that the building industry is reporting progress in England. Here where practically all of the gains in that field have been those in the public and civil works programs there is a hope this is a significant indication of what may come in near future. In the meantime, our own business experts are predicting a seasonal gain through March and April.

Now Where Did Herb Leave That Veto Thing?

More Truth Than Poetry

By James J. Montague

TOO LATE

(After reading that a college professor declares that knowledge, when gained while in a coma, endures forever.)

A learned professor declares
That the way to make students advance
On the troublesome path
Of Greek, Latin and Math
Is to put them all into a trance.
Their resistance to learning will then
Be lulled, while their craniums feed
On the branches of art
Which leads not so smart
Are supposed—by professors—to need.

I wish that a method like this
Had been practiced when I was a lad.
I could never discern
Any way I might learn
The subjects I needed—and bad.
But my notion that I was plumb dumb
I find was a foolish mistake.
All the lore that I got
From a textbook or "trout"
Was taught me while I was awake.

Could I only live over the past
I should make it my regular rule
To belong to a class
That took beakers of gas
Whenever they started for school.
And then, although still I am thick,
And abnormally low in my brow,
I should know a lot more
About all forms of lore
Than I ever can hope to do now.

Thoughts On Modern Life

By GLENN FRANK

MACDONALD ON THE NEW DEAL

Yesterday I referred to William MacDonald's new book, "The Menace of Recovery," as a good sample of the sort of attack to which the New Deal may be increasingly subjected by the organized opposition.

Today I want to list some of the main points in this attack, and later to suggest some standards by which such attacks should be judged.

Here are some of the things MacDonald says:

(1) That the major part of the recovery induced by the Roosevelt policies has been superficial and artificial, more apparent than real—the result, not of creating new wealth, but of taking money out of one pocket and putting it into others.

(2) That the Roosevelt policies have, on a scale unprecedented in modern history, bought the enthusiasm of millions and the loyalty of many groups by tangible personal and class benefits in the form of direct subsidies and swollen public payrolls, making one-fifth of the population financial dependents of the Federal government.

(3) That the three-fourths of the people not living from the land have been forced to contribute to the support of the other fourth who are farmers.

(4) That virtually every office, shop and plant in the United States has been put at the mercy of a trade unionism that has not been subjected to the code regulation imposed upon business and industry.

(5) That government has been put into direct competition with private enterprise.

(6) That a political veto has been claimed on the employment of new capital.

(7) That the foundations have been laid for universal price-fixing by limiting the price advances that can be made in meeting code obligations.

(8) That banking becomes, under the New Deal, virtually a government function.

(9) That the forces of political compulsion are closing as tightly about the farmer as about the business man and industrialist.

(10) That the Federal Government is set up as the sole repository of social wisdom and a sense of justice, with individuals, groups, municipalities and states shoved aside as lacking in social insight and social responsibility.

(11) That an absolute government veto on what industry does is the device through which a detailed management of industry, not granted by law, is sought by indirect action.

Here are eleven charges. Mr. MacDonald elsewhere, in the step-by-step discussion of the New Deal, charges that twelve major fallacies underlie its policies. I shall segregate and list these alleged fallacies tomorrow.

DOING NOTHING

"What are you doing, Don?"
"Nothing."
"Don't you know that you ought to be doing something? A big boy like you doing nothing. You ought to be ashamed of such a thing."

"What do you want me to do, ma?"
"How do I know? You ought to be doing something. Not wasting your time. Haven't you any lessons, or any work, or anything?"

"Nope. I've done my homework. I haven't a thing to do until I go to school Monday morning. I'm going to stretch out and just do nothing to feel what it is like."

"There isn't anything smart about loafing. It does seem to me that you ought to be doing something. Not for me. For your own good."

"You tell me something that I can do for my good and I'll do it, ma. If it isn't lessons or reading a good book, I'm off them until Monday."

Don was teasing his mother a little bit. He enjoyed feeling he had nothing to do and enjoyed still more the thought that his mother couldn't find anything that he should be doing. He had finished his stint, his work was good, he wanted to enjoy the freedom from pressure this thought gave him. Why not?

Doing nothing is no sin, provided that enough has been done to serve the day. Boys and girls need leisure time, need occasional holidays, in which to move about under their own power. Too often school and home use every waking minute so that the children live and move in beings far removed from their own. They lose touch with themselves in being Miss Jolly, the English teacher, Miss Lyme the French instructor, Mr. Shaw the gym man, Auntie Eda the mentor of manners, father and standard bearer, and mother the hovering providence, and all the other near and far well wishers. A respite must come if the youngsters are to maintain mental and physical noise.

Don't be so sure that children are doing nothing when they lie on their backs in the sun, or sit on the steps brooding. There was a loafer named Shelley and another named Thoreau and a tramp named Whitman, all of whom created riches beyond count and beauty beyond earthly vision. Dreamers are not always idlers. They have been known to make dreams come true and in the process help countless other dreams to realization.

Children, and among them adolescents, must be counted first and last. They must have time for self communication. They must have relief from the pressure of the adult minds. They must have opportunities for self direction and self enjoyment. It is unwise to make them feel guilty if they take an hour or a day off when their tasks are done.

We are too much concerned about work. It is not possible for anybody to work to a steady beat day in and day out and maintain the quality of their output. There are high days and low ones and the high days come oftener when there are rest times, free times, when the mind can feel itself alone and full of content.

(Mr. Patri will give special attention to inquiries from parents and school teachers on the care and development of children. Write him in care of this paper, inclosing a three-cent stamped, addressed envelope for reply.)
